On August 27, 505 students, 50 faculty members, administrators and paraprofessionals began the 1986 school year of "fun and games."

The activities, sports, leisure time, free days and vacations provided the fun while the classes, administrative scheduling and discipline furnished the games.

The students were the participants and the faculty and administrators, the moderators. As in all games there were winners and losers. The losers were the failures in the various classes.

For the 170 senior contestants this final year of fun and games was full of enjoyable times as well as hard work and ended with their earning a diploma.

The 161 juniors and the 174 sophomores certainly had their share of fun and games in their participation in activities and in their endeavors in the classroom. In the end most students proved to be winners in this 1986 year of "fun and games."

Above: Varsity cheerleaders who captured first place in the annual contest include (front): Renee Greathouse, Tessy Rudeck, Michelle Poborsky, Stacy Schofield, Sherri Baumgardner and Patti Miller; (back): Ann Hribar, Di Miller, Nicole Kauffman, Tracy Miller, Cristie Stuver and Grace Gossard. UNITY

UNITY

In any game there are certain guiding principles, one of which is UNITY. This is more easily achieved if it is clear what the aim or purpose of a particular program is.

Likewise in school "games" or events UNITY is necessary to make an activity or a program a success. The cheerleading squad had to work as a unit to capture first place in the annual contest. In clubs and organizations, such as the Student Council, the membership had to pull together to have a successful year. The Spanish Honor Society worked as a unit to stage a successful Christmas program for the elementary students. The band needed to play together to give an A-1 performance. Finally, it goes without saying, that team work and a unified team effort are necessary to have a winning season.

Left: Senior Kim Houghton puts the finishing touch on her locker. Decorating lockers was a fad with many seniors. Top: Sophomores Janice Moore, left, and Tammy Moratti take their turn working at a bake sale sponsored by the Forensics group. Top Right: Participating as models for the fashion column of the Montage, the school newspaper, are Laura Plummer, forefront, and Beth Blanchetti, left, Mike Roman and Marty Micko. Above: Junior Jeff McNeal works on his sewing project, a pair of summer shorts, in a third period home economics class. Bottom Right: Dances always add variety to school life. Here some 250 students have an enjoyable time at a dance sponsored by the Jaycees and Jayceettes. Far Right: Surprised to find themselves chosen queen and king of the Snowball Dance are seniors Nicole Kauffman and Don Meier. The dance is sponsored by Student Council prior to Christmas vacation.

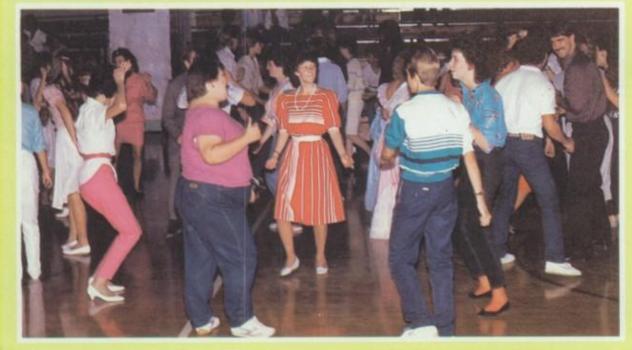

VARIETY

VARIETY

A second guiding principle in any event is VARIETY. Coupled with variety in a particular program is a variety of experiences. Variety in fund-raisers, such as a bake sale instead of the usual sub and pizza sales, was welcomed by clubs. Variety in decorating lockers was noted among the seniors. To get away from the sometimes dreadful monotony of the school day, a number of school dances were held.

There also has to be an element of surprise, at times, in events and this adds variety. Who will be elected king and queen at the Snowball Dance. Who will be chosen prom queen?

A tang of an occasional new idea also adds variety to games and events — boys in home-economics class and girls in shop classes.

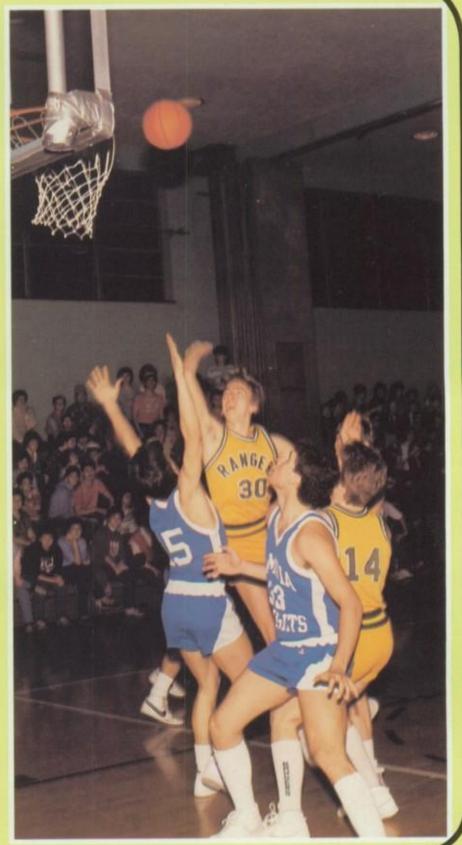

Top Left: Clarissa Reese is crowned 1985 Homecoming queen by Georgette Kubic, last year's queen. Bottom Left: Ron Bailey, left, and brother Don make a final check of their term papers before handing them in to Mr. Keller, their English instructor. Above: In the final scene of Fools, Sophia Zubritsky (Wendy Bodenschatz) accepts the hand of Leon Tolchinsky (Jeff Reinbold) in marriage, bringing to a conclusion this comic fable by Neil Simon. Fools was the drama club's first production of the year. Top Right: George Barefoot displays, with pride, his hobby horse which he made in wood shop. Bottom Right: Senior Pam Krupa receives her NHS induction ribbon from advisor Mary Ellen Ambroe at a ceremony held at a student assembly. Far Right: Marc Myers (30), Ranger playmaker, goes high to toss in a basket for two points in the Rangers vs the Highlanders basketball matchup.

Any event, be it a drama production, a dance or a classroom activity, should reach a fitting CLIMAX. This third guiding principle is a necessity for any successful program.

Checking over a term paper for any possible errors climaxes weeks of tedious research. The crowning of the homecoming queen highlights the homecoming festivities. A wedding of the leads in a school play brings to a close a successful performance. A finished project in wood shop climaxes weeks of hard work and brings pride to the student for a job well done. Being inducted into an honor society is a student's reward for scholastic achievement. Scoring a winning touchdown, pinning your opponent or tossing in a crucial basket climax these respective sporting events.

Senior class officers meet in the Conference Room to discuss ideas for fund raisers. They are (seated) Danelle Hutzel, secretary; (standing) Maria Yuhas, treasurer; Mike Mehall, vice president and Doug Peel, president.

At the onset of the 1986 school term, 170 seniors led the way for a year of "fun and games." These veterans assumed leadership roles in all phases of school life — in the classroom, in sports and in extracurricular activities; such as, the drama club, Junior Miss program, spirit week and homecoming.

This was a busy year for the seniors. The taking of senior pictures, ordering graduation announcements and name cards, and being measured for caps and gowns were a few items on their agenda. Fund raisers were held to earn money for graduation expenses, including the senior trip and the senior farewell party.

As the year of "fun and games" drew to a close, some made plans to enter college or to join the armed forces; others hoped to find jobs. Moreover, they all realized that this final year of "fun and games" would soon be nothing but fond memories.

School publication editors Kathie Drew, left, of the newspaper and Cathy Yonkoski of the yearbook exchange ideas that might be used in their respective publications.

Leadership Role Played by Seniors

Taking the initiative, seniors assumed leadership in school functions, both scholastic and extracurricular. Leadership and seniors went hand in hand as was evident by the clubs and organizations headed by members of the senior class.

As editors of school publications or officers of an organization, the seniors displayed their leadership ability by making certain that the activities in their charge functioned well.

Through hard work and dedication seniors led their respective groups in achieving their goals. This proved true with regard to the cheerleaders whose captains led them in capturing top honors in the annual contest. Also in the forensic group, seniors led the way to first place finishes in various meets.

As the year came to a close, the seniors relinquished their leadership role to qualified juniors and wished them success in the year ahead.

Dawn Gallaher takes the order of senior Carol Crum, who is about to be photographed by Paul Cover of Cover Studio, Johnstown.

Cover Studio, the official school photographer, photographed about 160 seniors the first week of October. A week later the proofs arrived and the seniors placed their orders. The finished product was delivered the second week of December. Very few, if any, were dissatisfied with them.

Of the six available offers, the "Senior Special" was the number one choice of most seniors. Priced at approximately $95, the special included two 8x10 natural color portraits in wooden frames, six 5x7 colored pictures in easels, 48 natural color wallet photos and one colored glossy for the yearbook.

Since the seniors, as a group, had their pictures taken by Cover Studio, all yearbook pictures, including athletic teams, clubs, organizations and all activities, were filmed and developed free of charge by Cover Studio. This was a great savings for the yearbook production which is a costly enterprise.

Clarissa Reese, Homecoming Queen

Senior Clarissa Reese reigned as Homecoming queen at a dance held on September 25 and also the following day at the Homecoming football game in which the Rangers hosted Richland who lost 27-3.

Members of the senior and junior classes voted for the queen and the six member all-senior court. Last year's queen, Georgette Kubic, crowned Clarissa during intermission of the Homecoming dance and did a repeat performance at the halftime show the following day.

The queen was escorted by senior Tim Caroff. Members of the court included Beth Blanchetti, Lynn George, Mary Grattan, Nicole Kauffman, Tanya Kissell, and Peggy Smiach.

In charge of the Homecoming festivities were the two honor societies, National and Spanish.

Choice of Career Is Top Priority

There were some seniors who planned to attend college after graduation and others who took advantage of different opportunities open to them after they finished their secondary education. Some decided on a military career while others chose a trade school, nursing field or a job in the business world.

Throughout the year, representatives from the armed forces, colleges and business schools found attentive audiences in seniors who realized that decisions concerning their future had to be made.

For those planning to attend college, Steve Hrapchak, guidance counselor, made available information on entrance requirements, scholarships and financial assistance. The business education department invited personnel from business colleges to talk to interested seniors.

Job availability in the area, as well as openings in various fields, state and nationwide, was compiled by the guidance department and passed out to seniors to give them an idea of what was available.

Choosing a career was the senior's number one priority once he finished high school.

FH Represented by Kissell, Krupa

Representing Forest Hills in the annual Cambria-Somerset Junior Miss program, held at Greater Johnstown Vo-Tech on September 27 and 28 were seniors Pam Krupa and Tanya Kissell.

Judging was based on poise and appearance, creative and performing arts, scholastic achievement and a judge's interview.

High-Tech was the theme of the program which began with "Good Morning" from "Singing in the Rain."

For the creative and performing arts competition, Pam did a tap dance to the tune of "Take a Little One Step," a 1920's number. Tanya's routine consisted of a monologue, "Please God, I'm Only Seventeen."

Howard Jones' "Things Can Only Get Better" was the number used for the poise and appearance portion of the program. The physical fitness segment performed routines to Axil F and Neutron Dance.

Although the girls were not winners, they both agreed that it was a rewarding experience.

Computer Classes Attract Seniors

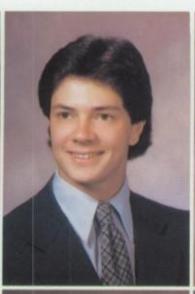

With the age of technology now in full swing, computer courses have become part of the curriculum.

Introduction to Computer, which is a one-semester course, was open to both juniors and seniors in both the academic and business classes. Under the direction of Gloria Molnar, the fundamentals were taught on the Apple II computers as well as its various components. Using the basic programming language, Mrs. Molnar taught the different functions of the computer. Students took part in input, processing and output exercises, including a program called Bank Street Writer. Another project was the creation of a picture on the computer using LOGO graphics.

Basic Programming, a follow-up of Introduction to Computer, was open to students who felt qualified to pursue the computer programming field. This year nine seniors opted the course.

Students learned basic programming language in order to solve otherwise complicated and time-consuming problems. As a final test students were required to develop an education program, a project of six weeks duration.

Balanced Program Offered Seniors

In both the academic and business education fields, the seniors received a balanced program in their high school curriculum.

The commercial student, besides taking the required courses of typing, shorthand and accounting, had the opportunity of studying consumer education, business machines and office practice, all of which enabled the business education student to receive a well balanced education.

The college-bound senior, in addition to taking the required courses of English, social studies, science and math could choose electives; such as, calculus, computer programming and micro-biology.

Also available were the elective courses of shop, art, home economics, band and chorus.

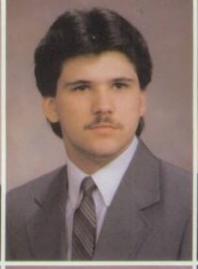

A well balanced curriculum, one to fit his needs, was available to any senior, be he an academic, business education or general student.

Two Fund Raisers Held by Class

Graduation expenses for the senior class amounted to approximately $3000. Included in these expenses were the rental of UPJ field house, seniors' farewell party and senior class trip to Hershey Park.

In order to earn this money, the seniors held several fund raisers. The first, which was a sale of Christmas items, was sponsored by Capital West Industries and under the direction of Mr. Ron Vespa, sales consultant. The class netted about $1000.

High salesman for the sale, which was held from November 26 through December 9, was Scott Bodenschatz, whose sales amounted to $134. For his efforts he chose a gift from a prize catalog which included radios, cameras, etc.

A second fund raiser took place in February — a sale of Gardner's Easter candy. This sale proved more profitable than the first and the class made a $2000 profit.

These two fund raisers, together with the spring dance sponsored by the seniors, earned for the class the needed money for graduation expenses.

Seniors Order Announcements

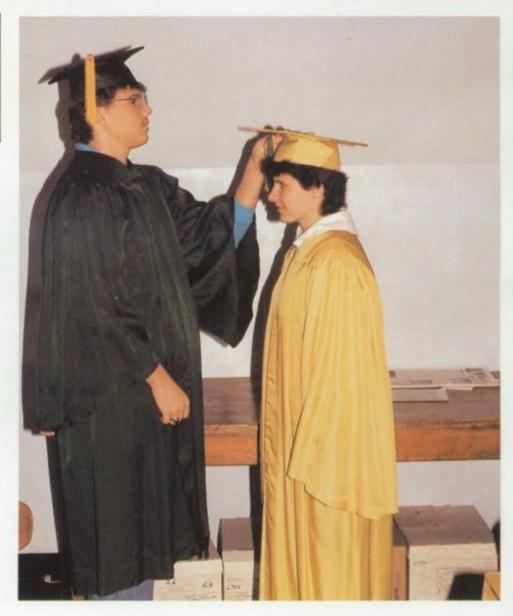

On January 6, Peter Burkholder, representative of Student Services, met with the seniors to order graduation announcements, name cards and other graduation items.

Of the four package plans offered (essential, regular, deluxe and super deluxe), the essential proved to be the most popular. This was made up of 25 invitations, 100 name cards and 25 thank you notes.

Senior key chains with necklaces, key charms and bracelets were also available.

Approximately 2500 announcements, at a cost of 40¢ each, were ordered by the class.

On February 4, Thomas Church of Collegiate Cap & Gown Company measured the graduates for caps and gowns — green for the boys and gold for the girls. A green and gold tassel, included in order, was to be retained by the graduate as a memento of his graduation.

Eight Inducted into Honor Society

On December 9, eight seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society. The ceremony, which was under the supervision of faculty advisors, Mary Ellen Ambroe and Gloria Molnar, was held in the auditorium with all students attending.

The program opened with a welcoming address by Jeff Reinbold, a veteran member. This was followed by brief talks on the qualities needed to gain membership. These included scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Next, followed the candle-lighting ceremony. As each inductee was called forth, he received a ribbon and candle which he lit from the Candle of Knowledge, signifying his acceptance into the society.

Finally all inductees, together with veteran members, recited the NHS pledge.

A repeat performance was held that evening for the inductees' parents and friends to witness. This was followed by a light luncheon.

NHS advisor Mary Ellen Ambroe pins ribbon on senior inductee Kathie Drew as a sign of her acceptance into the honor society.

Seniors Involved in Activities

Involvement in extracurricular activities was very evident among the seniors. Check any scholastic undertaking or any sport and you would find seniors leading the way. They were the mainstay in many of these activities and were instrumental in getting the underclassmen involved as well.

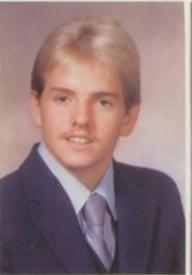

One such group was the Student Council in which seniors got involved in such events as Spirit Week. Another group was the HUM Club in which the seniors as officers or committee chairmen helped members of their group get involved in helping others; for example, the holiday parties for the retarded.

In dramatics seniors had lead roles in the various productions staged throughout the year. Seniors were involved in forensics, scholastic quiz and trivial pursuit competition. In sports, seniors led the way and helped to produce winning seasons in many sports.

Participation and involvement were synonymous with many members of the senior class.

Electives Prove Helpful to Seniors

In the academic, business and general courses, there were various elective courses geared not only to the student's needs but also to his likes.

For the college bound seniors, in particular for those interested in medicine, the microbiology course was most helpful. In this course, students were introduced to basic chemistry and physiology of the organisms, emphasizing laboratory techniques and diagnostic tests which demonstrated this.

There were those students who showed great talent in the fine arts' program and chose to spend a great deal of time in this particular field. In the art program there were those who excelled and scheduled extra classes to develop their talents. Some intended to pursue this field after graduation.

These elective courses, whatever they might be, proved to be beneficial to interested students in all three courses of study — the academic, commercial and general.

In this year of "fun and games," the faculty and administrators played the role of moderators and judges. In participating in these "games," each member of the faculty exhibited his own unique identity which was found in his personality, mannerisms and teaching habits.

From preparing students for choosing a career through classroom teaching to acting as a coach or advisor for extracurricular activities, faculty members showed an awareness of the students' needs.

The learning process took place under a variety of circumstances, but perhaps, one of the best situations occurred when a faculty advisor's own interest or avocation was in common with that of his students. Besides contributing practical knowledge, teachers also helped the students gain insight into the complex problems of the day.

As the year progressed, we saw how important a role the teacher and administrator played in this year of "fun and games."

Beyer Retained as Board President

At the annual reorganization meeting of the school board on Wednesday, December 4, Robert Beyer was elected to his seventh term as president. Other officers included William Kostan, first vice president; Dorothy Ruddek, second vice president; Shirley Partsch, secretary; Rev. Dennis Krajacic, assistant secretary; and Martha Kozar, treasurer. Twila Patterson, a non-board member, was retained as recording secretary. Gilbert Caroff, attorney-at-law, was re-appointed solicitor for his twenty-sixth term.

Committee chairpersons appointed by the president included the following: Shirley Partsch (Cafeteria), Dennis Krajacic (Curriculum and Education), William Kostan (Professional Personnel and Finance), Thomas Paluch (Negotiations), Phillip Mollers (Operation of Buildings and Maintenance), Martha Kozar (Policy), Samuel Basile (Student Activities) and Dorothy Ruddek (Transportation).

Long Range Plan in Final Year

The 1985-86 school year marked the fifth and final year for the Wave II schools throughout the Commonwealth to submit their final completion reports and to apply for building registration with the Pennsylvania Department of Education. Being a Wave II school, Forest Hills completed the necessary requirements of the mandated final completion report.

In order to complete this report, the administration, the staff and the Parent Advisory Committee had to carry out a heavy schedule of activities.

The teachers reviewed and updated the Course of Study booklets which were written five years ago as part of the Long Range Plan. These booklets described what was taught in every class in every grade of the School District.

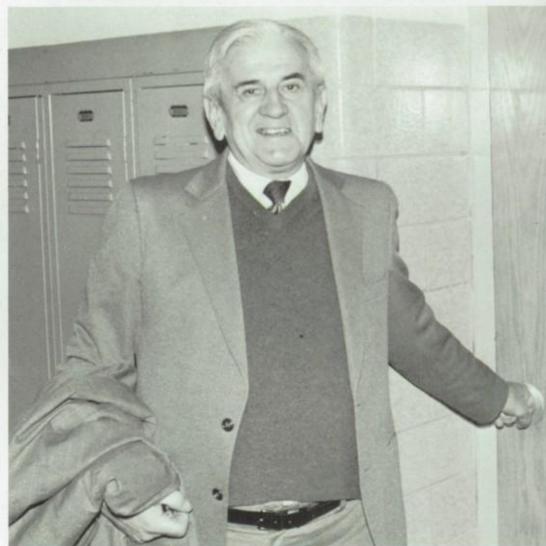

The administration gathered and disseminated logistical data that included the results of all standardized tests, all EQA results, TELLS results and the Scholastic Aptitude Tests results over a five-year period.

The Parent Advisory Committee visited schools, talked with staff and students, reviewed all data and made non-binding recommendations to the School District.

Pilot Program Held in Library Science

A pilot program of library science was introduced by Henry Polasko, librarian, in conjunction with the sophomore Communications' classes. Beginning next year, sophomores will be required to take this course as part of their regular curriculum.

In this program Mr. Polasko incorporated oral as well as written communication. In the opening sessions of the course, several brief talks were given by each of the students. Parliamentary procedure was incorporated in this part of the course. Next, the class was taught the fundamentals of the library; such as, the location of various materials, use of the card catalog and periodic guide and the use of the video tape machine. Students then had to research a given topic and finally give a five-minute talk on this topic. The course proved very successful.

Steve Hrapchak, guidance counselor, continued with the six-week publication of the Pupil Personnel Newsletter for seniors. Articles concerning career opportunities as well as other information helpful to seniors were published. Also included were some health tips by Clarann Hillenbrand, school nurse.

Radical Change in Language Arts

In the language arts classes (English) there was a radical change this year. Some 50 students in each grade who had demonstrated high academic skills in language arts were scheduled for one English teacher for the entire year. This replaced the twelve-week cycle method of students changing English teachers each twelve weeks of the school term. In these sophomore classes emphasis was placed on grammar and composition; juniors, writing skills; and seniors, literature and term paper. The purpose of this change was to improve and develop students' writing and communication skills to better prepare them for post high school education programs in college or other academic institutions.

The remaining students in the English classes continued with the twelve-week mini-course program.

Likewise the social studies' department retained the twelve-week mini-courses for all students. This program has been successful for history and there was no need for any change.

Substitutes Employed in Math and Science

With Myra Whysong taking a maternity leave in November, Carol Trimeloni was hired as a substitute. Mrs. Trimeloni, who majored in mathematics at Indiana University of PA, did most of her teaching as a substitute. Her teaching duties included three classes of Algebra II, two of Lab Math II and one class of calculus.

Rose Bungo substituted for Regis Endler, who took a sabbatical leave the second semester. Miss Bungo received her B.S. in biology at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown and did her student teaching at Westmont Hilltop High School. Her teaching responsibilities were all physics' classes and a senior General Science class.

Business Education Remains Unchanged

In the business education department there was no change in the teaching personnel or in their teaching assignments.

Frank Krentz taught two classes each of Accounting I and Accounting II as well as a class of Office Machines. Along with these classes, Mr. Krentz taught four classes of safety education, a course required of all sophomores.

Diane Gvozdich's teaching duties included Shorthand I, II; Typing I, II; and Business Exploratory, a sophomore course in which the students received three 12-weeks instruction in typing, shorthand and accounting. They were taught the basics in these areas.

Linda Barnett's responsibilities were Typing I, II; Personal Typing and two classes in Office Practice. Miss Barnett continued advising the Future Business Leaders of America Club for interested business education students.

Linda Barnett of the Business Education department is about to begin her class of Personal Typing, comprised of juniors and sophomores.

Elizabeth Morgan, Spanish Substitute

Since Donna Gramling was granted a year's leave of absence, the school board hired Elizabeth Morgan as a substitute. Mrs. Morgan came to Forest Hills with ample experience in the language field. For ten years Mrs. Morgan taught languages at Bishop McCort High School, including French, German and Spanish. She likewise taught Spanish at United for one year and French at Northern Cambria for one year. She lived in Germany for three years and traveled extensively throughout Europe, favoring France and Germany.

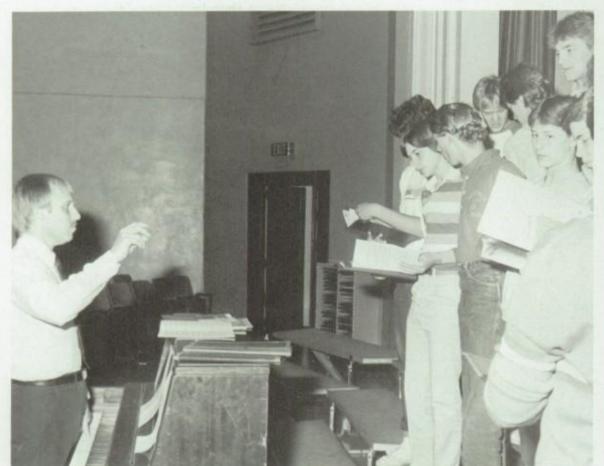

Mrs. Morgan followed a similar format in her Spanish classes as that of Mrs. Gramling. She carried out the same programs, such as the Christmas Piñata program for the elementary students. Likewise in the spring, she conducted the Spanish Honor Society induction ceremony.

Randy Ruddek, now in his second year of teaching German, continued to commute between junior and senior high. He followed the same program in his classes as he did in the previous year.

Gary Nastase Hired as Band Director

With the resignation of Charles Cannin at the end of the 1985 school term, Gary Nastase was hired as the new band director and instructor of instrumental music at the junior and senior high school.

Mr. Nastase was not a newcomer to Forest Hills, for he taught music at the Forest Hills Elementary School from 1979 through 1985 when he took over his current position.

Mr. Nastase graduated from the former Triangle Area High School in 1966 and then attended Berklee School of Music for a year. From 1967 through 1970 he attended the U.S. Army/Naval School of Music, CONARC Band, Ft. Monroe, Virginia. He spent 1971 through 1974 at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music where he earned his Bachelor of Music Education degree. He worked a few years in private industry until 1976 when he was hired as music instructor at the Forest Hills Elementary School.

The co-ed physical education classes were under the direction of Penny Matlin and Charles Sponsky. Once again the President's Physical Fitness Program was incorporated in the gym classes with tests being given in such areas as sit up's, pull up's and track events.

Physical education activities included, in the fall, tennis and softball. Indoor sports included cage ball, volleyball, hockey, basketball and table tennis.

In the health classes, drugs and alcohol abuse were discussed. Values clarification and sign language were taught in some classes. Current Health magazine, a monthly, was used by both instructors. The magazine dealt with everyday health problems.

Physical education was required of all students and was taken twice a week; health, a three-day week course, was required only of the junior class.

Charles Sponsky checks out the roster of a senior physical education class before they begin some inter-class basketball games.

Driver Ed Dropped from Curriculum

Driver education was dropped as part of the regular curriculum this year. The course, taught last year by Joseph Soohy, became part of a summer program in which all participants were required to have six hours of individual driving instruction. This was necessary for a student to qualify his taking a driving test.

Driver instructors for the summer course were Joseph Soohy and Frank Krentz, both of the Forest Hills faculty.

Safety education classes, however, remained part of the regular curriculum. This one-semester course was required of all sophomores and for all who intended to participate in the driver education program. Since Joseph Soohy was transferred to the junior high to teach science, Frank Krentz was assigned all safety education classes.

There was a possibility that the driver education program would be scheduled after school in the spring if enough students appeared interested.

Work-Style Remains Same as Before

Little or no change appeared in the work of the cafeteria staff or the custodians.

A staff of five, two part-time, maintained the cafeteria which served an average of 300 students per day. Once again the Ranger sub and pizza luncheons appealed most to the students.

The custodians, numbering four, continued with their many regular chores.

Robert Myers manned the building throughout most of the school day, opening the building in the morning, checking the furnaces, removing snow, and keeping after necessary maintenance the rest of the time.

The second shift, comprised of Bill Hemminger, Alice Naglic and Henry Kistner arrived at three in the afternoon. Cleaning classrooms, hallways, lavatories, cafeteria, gym and administrative offices were among their responsibilities.

Student Council

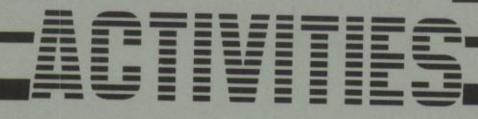

"Fun and games" was perhaps most evident in the activities of the high school students.

Whether students participated in the forensic meets, scholastic quiz and trivial pursuit competitions or whether they were involved in clubs; such as, Humanitarian Club, jaycees and jayceettes and drama group, they contributed to the betterment of the school.

From learning marching routines in band to sponsoring special activities, as those of Student Council, from gaining personal satisfaction in helping others as a member of the Humanitarian Club to writing an article for the school newspaper, Forest Hills offered a well-rounded group of student activities.

Involvement in these activities was for the student one of the best supplements to classroom learning. By being elected to a club office or by being appointed to chair a committee, the student experienced leadership and acquired responsibility. Merely being a member of an organization taught the student the necessity of cooperation.

In this year of "fun and games" activities played an important role in the lives of the student.

Host Of Activities Sponsored by Council nce again the Student Council, under the direction of president Cathy Yonkoski, has had an active year in which it sponsored numerous activities for both students and teachers.

The council provided several treats for the teachers, including "Secret Pal Week," Valentine's Day balloons and Christmas candy.

The group also helped boost the morale of the students by sponsoring "Spirit Weeks," pep rallies and a multimedia presentation. The council continued its decorating of the school lobby, cafeteria and the hallways for the Christmas season.

A very special event was presented by the organization when the rock group "Free Fare" appeared at the high school on November 7 and presented a concert for the students, free of charge.

The council continued with its keeping the marquee up to date with the various activities held throughout the year, including scholastic, sporting and social events of the various clubs and organizations. It also maintained the bulletin board located in the school cafeteria.

Annual Snowball Dance Attracts 250 Students

Snowball Dance sponsored by the Student Council under the direction of faculty advisors, Robert Bero and Diana Gvozdich. The event took place on Thursday, December 12, from 7-10 P.M. in the high school gymnasium. Music was provided by Q-94.

Highlighting the social was the selection of the Snowball King and Queen. Several days before the dance the three classes selected the members of the court. The senior members included Beth Blanchetti, Mary Grattan, Nicole Kauffman, Peggy Smiach, Sue Zimmerman, Joe Blough, Jeff Costlow, Mark Facciani, Ernie Golas and Don Meier. Juniors chosen were Sherri Baumgardner, Vicki Costlow, Kerri Leventry, Lisa Partsch, Dave Cuppett, Brian Peretin, Bob Slonac and Deran Smith. The sophomores elected Dee Miller, Di Miller, Heather Russell, Paul Harkelroad, Rick May and Craig McCall. Those attending the dance cast a vote for the king and queen from the senior members of the court.

Chosen for the king and queen were Don Meier and Nicole Kauffman. Nicole was crowned by Melissa Baumgardner, last year's queen. A special dance for the king and queen and court members followed the crowning.

Quiz team alternates include Michelle Wadsworth and Dan Mackel, who are both members of the junior class.

The FH quiz team are Mark Katrancha (junior), Bill Wilkinson (junior), Tim Lucas (senior) and Rick Wilkinson (junior).

Scholastic Quiz Team Has Satisfying Year

aptained by junior Bill Wilkinson, the scholastic quiz team, under coach Mary Ellen Ambroe, had a satisfying season.

In their first round of competition, the Rangers defeated defending champions Westmont by a 165-90 score. This was the first loss for Westmont in two years. However, in its second round, the team did not fare as well as they fell to Richland by a 110-55 count.

In the final match of the two-loss elimination competition, FH competed against an impressive team from Greater Johnstown. The Rangers fell behind early, but came back strong at the end of the first half. The team started the second half well, but lost momentum and finally was defeated by a 110-75 score. Greater Johnstown was the eventual winner of the quiz in which 32 area schools competed.

With only one senior, Tim Lucas, leaving the team and the other three being juniors as are the two alternates, next year's team should be very competitive.

Mary Ellen Ambroe, faculty coach of the scholastic quiz team, waits for the start of the competition with Greater Johnstown.

Trivial Pursuit Club Holds First Tourney

B usy best describes the 1985-86 year for the Trivial Pursuit Club. It began with the election of officers. Chosen to lead the group was Dan Mackel and Rick Wilkinson was named vice president. Trish Evacko was selected secretary.

Under the guidance of Mary Ellen Ambroe, the club met every Monday for two hours after school in the library. Membership was open to all interested students.

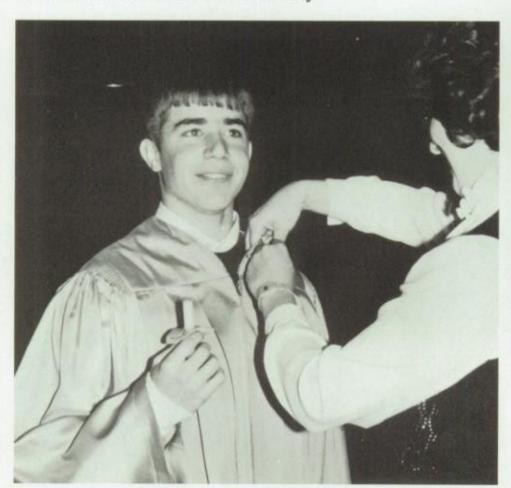

Something new was attempted this year. On February 17, the club hosted its own Trivial Pursuit tournament with eight teams representing five area schools competing. Besides Forest Hills, Greater Johnstown, Westmont, Johnstown Vo-Tech and United attended. The winning team was that of Greater Johnstown.

On February 26, the Rangers sent two teams to compete in the Laurel Valley tournament. Although neither team failed to place, the participants enjoyed the challenging competition.

New Advisors Find Year Interesting, Educational

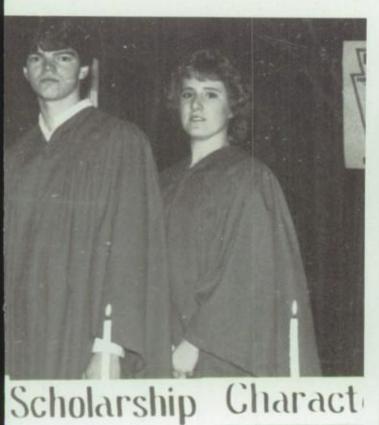

he National Honor Society celebrated its first anniversay under guidance of faculty advisors, Gloria Molnar and Mary Ellen Ambroe. The year proved to be both interesting and educational commented the rookie advisors.

On Monday, December 9, fifteen students were inducted into the organization. The ceremony was held at a school assembly and repeated that evening for the parents and friends of the inductees.

Although the NHS is basically academic in nature, the group is required to provide services for school and community. This year services included the sponsoring of "teacher appreciation day," a Red Cross CPR course and the rewriting of a school handbook to be distributed to all senior high students.

The group closed out its activities with its annual banquet which was held at Rizzo's in Windber on Friday, May 30. Thirty NHS members and faculty advisory board members attended the social.

14 Juniors Received Into Honor Society

n Tuesday, April 8, fourteen juniors were inducted into the Simon Bolivar Capitulo of the Spanish Honor Society.

Selection of these inductees was based on their grade point average throughout their three years of Spanish. In order to qualify, the Spanish student was required to maintain a 3.2 average.

The induction service was held in the auditorium under the direction of Elizabeth Morgan, Donna Gramling (coadvisors) and the society's council. Each inductee received a ribbon and a certificate of membership. Following the ceremony a brief reception was held in the cafeteria with sophomore Spanish students acting as hostesses.

Other activities sponsored by the group included the annual pinata party for the kindergarten and the decorating of showcases for National Foreign Language Week.

Forensic Team Shows Great Improvement

ompeting at Westmont for all three regular meets, the Forensic team greatly improved on last year's showing, both as a team and individual records. The team boasted many ribbon winners. Two, in particular, Tanya Kissell and Wendy Bodenschatz, placed at every meet. Other competitors placing at regular meets included Sherri Crabbs, Avril Kaltenbaugh and Missy Stombaugh.

On Wednesday, February 27, 17 students attended District competition held at St. Francis College. Of these, seven qualified for semi-finals held the following day and of these six qualified for the finals. All six placed in their respective categories, including Tanya Kissell, who placed first in Serious Dramatic Interpretation and qualified for state and national competition; in the same category Sherri Crabbs placed sixth and in prose, Missy Stombaugh placed third which made her a state qualfier. In Humorous Dramatic Interpretation Bill Wilkinson placed third and qualified for State finals as did Wendy Bodenschatz who placed fifth in Girls' Extempt.

On April 10-11 six competitors and two observers attended State competition at Penn State, State College. However due to stiff competition, none of the students advanced to the semi-finals.

On the weekend of May 23, Tanya Kissell and Michelle Crabbs competed in national competition held in Baltimore but failed to make a showing.

Personal Satisfaction, Sole Reward For Club

ersonal satisfaction was the only reward the members of the Humanitarian Club sought. According to Henry Polasko, faculty advisor, "Everything we do has a money angle." The club solely raised moeny to give it away.

To name only a few of their activities, HUM donated to Amy Wicks, a leukemia victim; held a clothing drive and a toys for tots, distributed turkey and hams to needy families during the holiday season, assisted Santa with the many letters he receives and held their annual parties for the mentally retarded citizens of the Forest Hills area.

Each year the HUM Club sponsors parties for the Halloween, Christmas and Easter seasons. These parties are well received by all who attend. HUM entertains over 60 people for a single party.

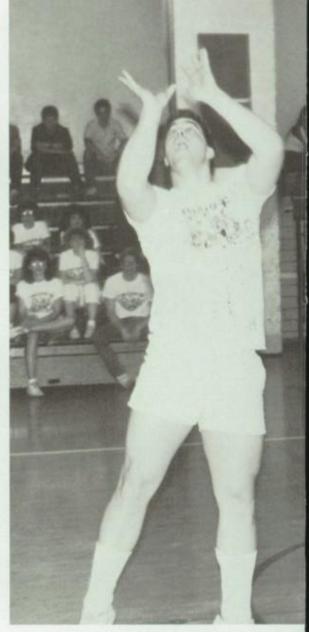

One of the best money-makers for the club was the St. Valentine's Day dance. The club netted over $500 at the social. This year a new segment was added to the dance — a King and Queen of Hearts were chosen. Several weeks prior to the dance, students nominated their favorite couples. At the dance, those attending, voted for a king and queen from these nominees. The idea proved rather successful for the club.

Seniors Christine Davis and Eric Botteicher reign as King and Queen at the St. Valentine's Day dance held February 20 in the gymnasium.

New Format Employed In The C/F Marathon

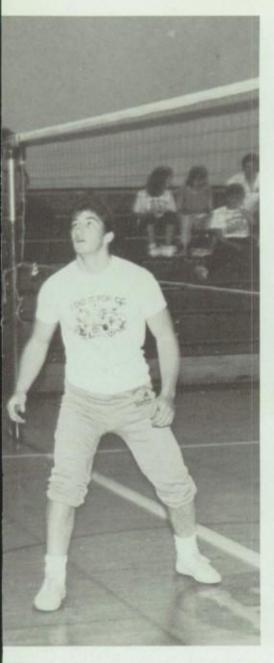

n April 4 and 5, the Jaycees and Jayceettes held their annual marathon for the benefit of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation of Johnstown.

The group, headed by faculty advisor Terry Crissey, exceeded their $1000 goal.

This year the format and timetable changed. Instead of basektball, the group decided to try a volleyball marathon. Furthermore, the marathon began at 8 A.M. on Friday instead of 4 P.M. During the school hours, volleyball games were played among Jaycees and Jayceettes, elementary faculty and senior high faculty. A group of Jaycees/Jayceettes traveled to the junior high to challenge their faculty, also. In addition, several local teams participated in the event. Among these teams were firemen from St. Michael, South Fork, Summerhill and Beaverdale; National Guard, Forest Hills Women's League, Mutual of Omaha, Home Pride Remodelers, Jaycee alumni, FH girls track team, UPJ Laurel Hall Dorm Council and Delta Chi, a fraternity from UPJ.

Over $1,000 was raised through donations and the money was presented to the Cystic Fibrosis of Johnstown.

Regional Workshop Held At Northern Bedford

ourteen Future Business Leaders of America Club members and advisor Linda Barnett attended a Regional Workshop held at Northern Bedford County High School on November 13. Dawn Gallaher and Karen Chuckalovcak, along with the help of other members, presented a workshop, entitled "Dress for Success." Students learned what and what not to wear on an interview and on the job. Other workshops included "Manners and Appearance," "Telephone Techniques," "Person-to-Person Communications," "Job Interview," "Communications," and "Coping with being 'The Only One.""

"Meistersingers," a singing/dancing group from Northern Bedford supplied the entertainment.

The club held several fund raising activities during the year, including sub and pizza sale, donut sale and several bake sales.

At Christmas time the group made fruit baskets which they distributed to the faculty. In May the club held a pizza party for its membership to close out its year of activities. Below: Ski Club officers are Clarissa Reese, treasurer; Dan Gallaher, president; Lynn George, secretary, and Karen Chuckalovcak, vice president. Sam Coco Takes Over As Ski Club Advisor t first it appeared that the Ski Club would not function this year but after some persuasion Sam Coco, of the faculty, agreed to lead the group. He was assisted by the officers who included Dawn Gallaher, president; Karen Chuckalovcak, vice president; Lynn George, secretary; and Clarissa Reese, treasurer.

The group made four trips to the Blue Knob Ski Resort during January and February. The total cost of the four trips amounted to $64. This included lift fees of $31, rental fees, $22 (unless the student had his own equipment), and lessons, $11 for those interested.

Although the group was small compared to other years, all participants appeared satisfied and found their four trips to Blue Knob rather enjoyable.

Student Aides Assist In Office And Library

tudent aides were again utilized both in the assistant principal's office and in the library and were a great help to Donald Bailey and Henry Polasko.

Ten students, including six seniors and four juniors volunteered their services in Mr. Bailey's office. Only one boy, Tom Richards, was among the group. Their duties remained much the same as before. They distributed absentee lists to all homerooms in the morning and afternoon, filed excuses, filled out tardy and early dismisal forms, located students for Mr. Bailey and assisted whenever and wherever needed.

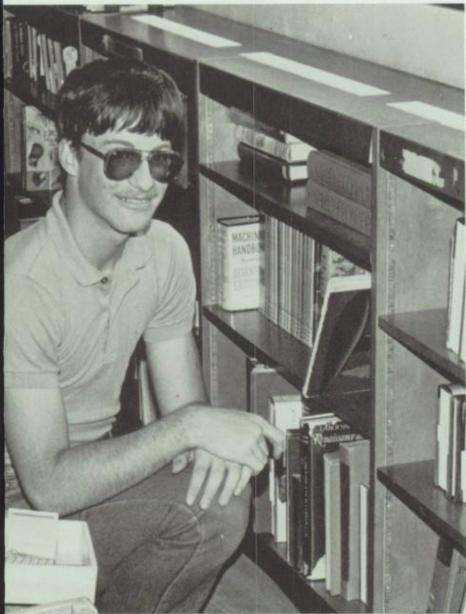

Nine seniors and two juniors acted as library aides. They sorted, stacked and checked out books, assisted students in finding research materials and in using the video-tape machine. At the end of the year they assisted with the library inventory.

Band Front Adds Color And Pageantry To Band

A dding color and pageantry to the marching band, the band front, comprised of the majorettes and color guard, was under the supervision of Mrs. Betty Schofield.

Under the direction of co-captains Jenny Rickley and Lori Bracken, the majorettes attended summer band camp to learn routines to be used at halftime shows at football games. For example, at their first show, the girls did a baton routine to the tune, "Broadway Razzle Dazzle." Another of their routines featured pom poms as the band played "Puttin" On The Ritz." In their performance, the girls donned gold-glittery hats, white gloves and canes and performed a dance routine to "New York, New York."

The color guard, under co-captains Donna Sablotski and Missy Smith, also attended summer band camp to learn various routines. The group also participated in the Homecoming festivities in which Clarissa Reese was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Two New Directors Take Over Ranger Band

ary Nastase took over as band director as the 1985-86 school year got under way. A 1966 graduate of Triangle Area High School, Mr. Nastase attended Shenandoah Conservatory of Music in Virginia, where he received his B.A. in music, later attended I.U.P. where he earned his Master's.

His assistant, also new this year, was Michelle Minor, a 1980 graduate of Forest Hills and a 1985 graduate of Penn State University. At Penn State she played with the Blue Band for two years.

For Mr. Nastase and Miss Minor directing a marching band was a complete new experience. As a result, summer band camp required much work and effort on their part to get the band in shape.

At camp the band was taught various marching routines and the musical selections to be used at halftime shows during football season. These selections included "There's No Business Like Show Business," a 1960's tune, "Shake, Rattle and Roll;" "Wipe Out," a selection featuring the percussion section, and finally a 50's tune, "Rock Around The Clock."

The band also participated in local parades at Beaverdale, South Fork and Ebensburg. They also marched in the annual Glossers' Parade in Johnstown.

Concert Band Performs At Two Major Events

erforming in the Glossers' Christmas parade, held in late November, the marching band closed out its season and the concert band took over. The two main activities of the concert band were the Christmas and Spring Concerts.

Featured at the holiday concert, held December 17 at the junior high auditorium, were songs found in "Themes From The Nutcracker Suite." "Sleigh Ride," a song made popular by Johnny Mathis, was also among the tunes played by the band.

The Spring Concert, which featured the concert band and the choral ensemble, was held on May 4 at the junior high auditorium.

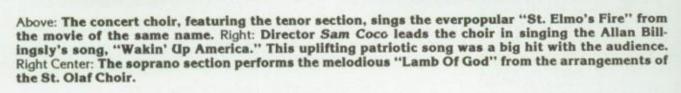

A variety of classical tunes was played by the band. Mozart, one of the most popular composers of his time, was remembered in "A Mozart Festival." Anyone familiar with the Broadway production, Porgy And Bess, recognized songs featured in Gershwin's "Symphonic Portrait." Some of these songs included "Summertime," "Bess, You Is My Woman" and "A Foggy Day." The band concluded its portion of the concert with the fast paced, popular theme song from the hit television show, Miami Vice, in which the percussion kept up the rhythmic drive.

Below: Wendy Bodenschatz, forefront; Missy Stombaugh and Amy Shellhammer, with the rest of the chorus sing "What Is A Heart," an extraordinary song with a homophonic beginning that gives way to a polyphonic middle section.

Choral Group Presents Two Fine Performances

nder the direction of Sam Coco, the chorus presented its two annual concerts, Christmas and Spring.

Among the selections of its holiday concert on December 17, the chorus sang the popular "Carol Of The Bells" and an upbeat version of the traditional "For Unto Us A Child Is Born." Senior Pamela Krupa performed a solo, "I'll Be Home For Christmas" and junior Sharon Heider sang "Jesus, Jesus Rest Your Head."

At the Spring Concert on May 14, the choir opened with "Lamb Of God." Other selections were "Like An Eagle" and patriotic songs, "Wakin' Up America" and "An American Salute."

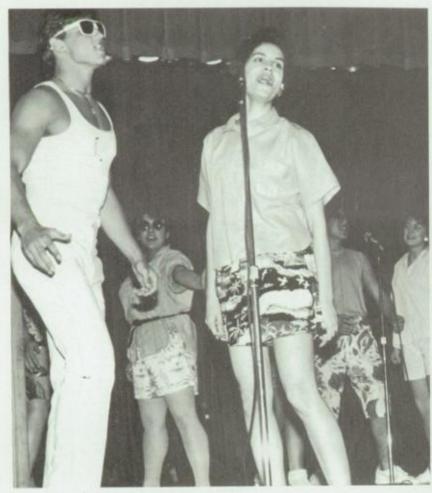

A duet by Renee Thomas and Sharon Heider and three solos were performed. Solos included "Via Dolorosa" by Janice Moore and "My Everything," an original number, by Michelle Crabbs. The final soloist, Pam Krupa sang Peter Allen's, "Once Before I Go."

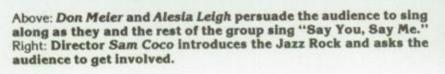

Midway through the show, the chorus presented Mr. Coco a gift in appreciation of his hard work.

Audience Electrified At Jazz Rock Concert

n electrifying performance, the Jazz Rock Concert, under the direction of Sam Coco, was presented on Wednesday, May 21 at the junior high auditorium.

Starting with their opening of "All Night Long," the group then sang "St. Elmo's Fire." Doug Peel followed with his version of Bryan Addams' "Heaven." The group then performed the Huey Lewis tune, "The Power Of Love," to a very involved audience. Wendy Oswalt followed with a solo, Melissa Manchester's "Don't Cry Out Loud." The group then returned to Lionel Richie to perform "Say You, Say Me." After this the group took time out to introduce themselves and Mr. Coco, also, acknowledged his band, Satrycon, for accompanying the soloists; Tammy Moratti who worked the lighting, and Missy Stombaugh who choreographed the dance routines.

Soloist Don Eash performed "The Search Is Over" followed by "Don't Lose My Number," by the entire ensemble. The next performance was a surprise to Mr. and the entire group, alike. As a tribute to Mr. Coco, Wendy Bodenschatz sang "The Greatest Love Of All" and was joined by the rest of the Jazz Rock midway through the performance. To close out the show the Jazz Rockers did an encore of "All Night Long" to end the year of fun, hard work and determination.

Majorettes Compete In Four Major Events

omprised of five senior high girls and seven junior high girls, the majorettes were under the direction of Mrs. Betty Schofield once again. In addition to marching in parades and performing at halftime shows at football games, the girls competed in four contests.

On March 15, the girls entered the competition at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in which twelve other schools entered. The Rangerettes placed seventh.

On March 22, the group traveled to Shade High School to compete in the majorette division of the "Tournament of Bands." The girls, in their best showing of the year, brought home the fourth place trophy.

In annual Johnstown War Memorial Tournament on April 11, the Rangerettes placed seventh out of 15 participating schools. In the final contest held at Windber High School on April 19, the Forest Hills entry placed sixth, with twelve schools competing.

Overall the girls did rather well, considering that the majority of girls were junior high students.

Cheerleaders Receive Award of Excellence

arsity cheerleaders won first place honors at the National Cheerleaders Association Camp at Millersville University August 12 through 15. The Rangerettes competed against 60 other squads and received the Award of Excellence, making them eligible to attend the 1985-86 Cheerleaders National Championship. The girls also won the Spirit Award and three squad members, Trácy Miller, Renee Greathouse and Michelle Poborsky were selected as finalists for All-American Cheerleader.

At the Penn State Eastern Regional Cheerleading Competition held at State College on October 19, the varsity squad captured first place. Besides the Ranger group seven other high schools from five states, who were grand champions of the National Cheerleading Association Camp, also competed.

The girls competed in the Cheerleaders National Championship in Florida but they failed to place amid strong competition.

Cheerleaders Capture First Place Honors

ompeting in the 42nd Annual Cheerleading Contest on November 22, the Ranger cheerleaders captured first place honors. Held at the Cambria County War Memorial, Johnstown, the contest was hosted by Conemaugh Valley cheerleaders, last year's winners.

The girls' winning cheer was entitled "Let's Go Team," which was the same cheer used by the squad at the Penn State Eastern Regional Cheerleading Competition where they also took first place honors.

Runner-up in the War Memorial contest was Windber Area and third place went to Conemaugh Township. Other schools competing were Blacklick Valley, Rockwood, Johnstown, Ferndale, Berlin, Bedford and Penn Cambria.

The Rangerettes continued a tradition of winning that started back in 1979. Taking the runner-up position in both '79 and '80, the girls took first place honors in 1981. After hosting in '82, they again won in '83. Now after hosting last year's contest, they are again winners. Because of this, they must host next year's event. But if history repeats itself, the Rangerettes should be crowned winners in 1987.

Neil Simon's 'Fools' Staged By Drama Club

n October 16 and 17, the Drama Club, under the direction of Alan Zajdel, presented their annual fall production entitled "Fools," a comic fable written by Neil Simon.

"Fools" is about a young, enthusiastic teacher Leon Tolchinsky (Jeff Reinbold), who takes a job in the small Russian village of Kulyenchickou. Upon arriving, Leon meets an empty-headed shepherd, named Snetsky (Mike Mehall). Leon soon discovers that the town is cursed and all the villagers are doomed to be ignorant for the rest of their lives unless the curse is broken. This can be done if young Sophia (Wendy Bodenschatz) can be educated or if she will marry Count Yousekevitch (Gene Mickolick).

During his stay in Kulyenchickou, Leon meets many interesting characters; such as, Sophia's parents, Dr. and Lenya Zubritsky (Matt Leventry and Laura Plummer), Slovitch (Mike Roman), Yenchna (Connie Zimmerman), Mishkin (Mark Katrancha) and the Magistrate (Bill Wilkinson).

Mrs. Barbara Plummer was the producer and senior Kathie Drew was the stage manager. The first act of "Fools" was staged for competition at Westmont for One-Act Play Competition. At this competition FH placed second to qualify for regional competition.

As the Magistrate and the townspeople wait for the wedding ceremony to begin, Gregor (Gregor Mickolick) plots to sabotage the wedding and to steal Sophia as his bride.

Mehall Has Lead Role In Broadway Musical nce again under the direction of Alan Zajdel, the drama department presented the broadway musical Pippin on April 17, 18 and 19 in the senior high auditorium.

The leading roles consisted of seniors Mike Mehall (Pippin), Gene Mickolick (Charles), Matt Leventry (Lewis) and Pam Krupa (Berthe); juniors Sharon Heider (Leading Player), Wendy Bodenschatz (Catherine) and Connie Zimmerman (Fastrada); and freshman Kory Barclay (Theo).

The musical also boasted nine girls and six boys who made up the company. These people used their singing and dancing abilities to perform in almost every scene.

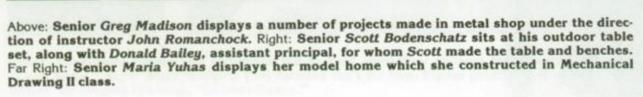

With ITS president Jeff Reinbold leading the stage crew, the scenery, lighting and sound effects were superb. Other crew members included Terry Summers, Mike Roman, Terry Williams, Rick Wilkinson, Matt Leventry, Laura Plummer, Sue Zimmerman and Mary Grattan.

Art Display Features Students' Handicraft

n Tuesday, May 1, the annual Art Exhibition was held in the school gymnasium. Projects of students in fine and practical arts were on display.

The show was under the direction of Albert Damico, art instructor, and he was assisted by John Romanchock (metal shop), Terry Crissey (wood shop), Robert Myers (mechanical drawing) and Mary Ellen Ambroe (home economics).

Displayed by the art department were students' oil paintings, water colors, pen and ink sketches, acrylic paintings and charcoal drawings.

Home economics students showed off their projects, including sweat shirts, blouses and shorts while the mechanical drawing students displayed model homes.

Coffee tables, cedar chests, gun cabinets, ladders and hobby horses were among the wood shop displays, and metal shop featured stools, car ramps and jack stands.

Viewed by the students that afternoon, the art exhibition was open to the public that evening. Right: Table "H" patiently awaits the start of the banquet. 200 Students Attend Junior-Senior Prom wo hundred students attended the annual junior/senior prom held at Ramada Inn, Somerset, on Saturday, May 10.

The social began with a banquet at 6:30 with roast boneless breast of chicken stuffed and scalloped potatoes heading the menu. Following the banquet, there was dancing from 8:30 to 11:30 to the music of "XL," a local rock group.

The theme chosen for the social was based on the song, "This Could Be The Night." A color scheme of red and white was conveyed in the program booklets, which each guest received. Each guest also received a mug or wine glass, properly inscribed, as a keepsake of the event.

Cover Studio was again present to take pictures of couples, a memento of the prom.

The prom committee consisted of the junior class officers, including Bill Wilkinson, president and master of ceremonies at the prom; Krissy Gindlesperger, vice president who delivered the invocation; Patti Chunta, secretary, and Vicki Costlow, treasurer. The advisor of the group was Albert Keller, English instructor.

Rev. Jack Reaugh Gives Baccalaureate Address

B accalaureate services were held on Tuesday evening, May 13, with the Forest Hills Area Ministerium participating.

Following the processional, Fr. Edward Figurelle of St. Michael Roman Catholic Church gave the invocation. "Faith of Our Fathers" was then sung.

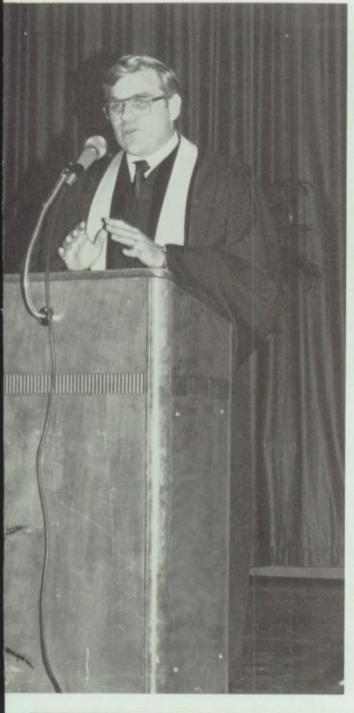

Tanya Kissell then read from Ecclesiastes and Sherri Crabbs followed with a New Testament reading from Corinthians and Doug Peel read the Gospel from St. Luke.

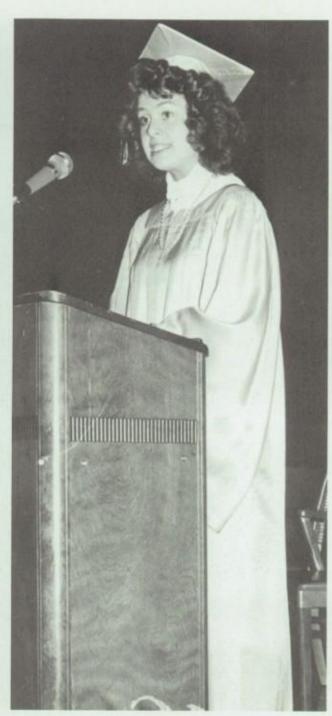

The Rev. Jack L. Reaugh, Jr. of South Fork First United Methodist Church gave the main address, "Mysterious Stuff." Following the address, all recited the prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

"Sing Hallelujah," then was sung by the Senior Ensemble and benediction was given by Rev. F. William Reeby of South Fork Wesley United Methodist Church.

"Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" was next sung by all and the recessional closed the program.

Trip To Hershey Park Enjoyed By 52 Seniors

n Friday, May 23, 52 seniors boarded school buses at 7 A.M. and set out for Hershey Park for a day's outing. Accompanying the group were class advisor Albert Keller and faculty member Gary Nastase.

Among the many rides enjoyed by the students were the Comet and Trailblazer, rollercoasters; the Pirate, the Rotor, the Flume and the Giant Wheel.

Some students visited the Aquatheatre where talented and comical dolphins and sea lions showed off their new stunts for 1986. Others visited Hershey's Chocolate World to learn about the story of chocolate from tropical plantations through the manufacturing process via an automated tour, indoor tropical gardens, a shopping village and a "Dessert Cafe."

Before the end of the day, many tried their luck at games of chance and took time out to grab a hot dog and some french fries.

At five that evening a tired group of seniors were ready for their return trip home.

Graduation Ceremony Held June 3 At UPJ

n Tuesday evening, June 3, 164 graduates received their diplomas at the commencement exercises held at the UPJ Sports Center.

Co-valedictorians Dave Bender, Bonita Long, Timothy Lucas and Catherine Yonkoski led the processional. Then followed Gary Robinson, high honor student, and honor students Douglas Peel, Amy Moyer, Jeffrey Reinbold, Maryann Zibura and Maria Yuhas.

After the opening prayer by the Reverend Jack L. Reaugh, Jr. of the South Fork First United Methodist Church, Renee Thomas sang "If You Believe" and the "Alma Mater." Doug Peel, class president, then gave a brief welcoming address.

Following Dr. Robert Anderson's introduction of platform guests and some brief remarks, the four covaledictorians presented the main addresses.

Edward Terek, high school principal, then presented the class and as Donald Bailey, assistant principal, read the names, each graduate came forward to receive his diploma from Robert Beyer, school board president.

After the closing prayer, the ceremony ended. There was no recessional. The class remained on the floor to be greeted and congratulated by relatives and friends.

Seniors Bid Farewell At Graduation Party

pproximately 100 seniors and 40 guests attended the senior farewell party held on Tuesday, June 3, following the commencement exercises at UPJ.

Disc jockey Andy Toath of GLU-92 provided the dance music for the event which started at 10 P.M.

A buffet luncheon of fried chicken, cold cuts, cheeses, along with fresh fruit, including strawberries, cherries, grapes, cantaloupe and watermelon was served. Cake and soda were also part of the menu.

Mrs. Karen Myers, assisted by three other ladies acted as hostesses. Chaperones for the social were Albert Keller, class advisor; Edward Terek, high school principal, and Donald Bailey, assistant principal.

The party, which was the smallest attended so far, ended at 1 A.M. Wednesday morning.

Seven Regular Issues Published By Staff

gain under the supervision of Albert Keller, faculty advisor, the Montage staff published seven regular 4-page issues as well as a special 14-page senior edition.

Chosen as the 1985 editor was senior Kathie Drew, who was assisted by approximately 25 students. These included reporters, photographers and typists. Students of all three classes made up the staff.

Some of the regular features in the paper included Fashion On Focus, Students Of The Month, honor rolls and editorials. The final issue, the senior edition, featured the class history and prophecy, the last will and testament, senior awards, baccalaureate and commencement. A special 4-page segment of the paper was devoted to senior baby photos and grade school pictures.

The cost of the regular issues was 25¢ each and the final senior edition sold for $1.25.

'Fun & Games' Chosen 1986 Forester Theme ollowing the tradition of a senior editor, advisor Albert Keller chose Cathy Yonkoski to head the 1986 Forester staff. Besides overseeing all sections of the yearbook, Cathy's duties included organizing fund-raisers, calling meetings of the staff and managing the concession stand at football games.

The theme chosen by the staff was "Fun and Games." This theme was incorporated in the opening and closing sections of the book as well as on the division pages.

The staff was divided into five sections. Each section was headed by a chairman who was responsible for the completion of that section.

Various layouts were employed throughout the book to give variety and add interest. For example, the activity section used the Mondrian layout while the faculty segment employed the Mosaic. A Skyscape layout was found in the sports section. The senior and underclassmen used a gallery type layout. In the opening and closing sections, the Modular layout was employed.

The 1986 Forester was finally completed by mid-June and was due to arrive with the opening of the 1987 school term.

In this year of "fun and games," sports played an integral part in the lives of the students, whether as a participant or a spectator. Each sport had its own unique contribution which affected all students.

Sports provided a means of displaying not only team effort but also individual effort. From making a good run behind a strong offensive line on the gridiron to spiking the ball on the volleyball court, athletes had to play the game together. From pinning one's opponent on the wrestling mat to breaking the school record in high jump, the athlete exhibited excellence in individual achievement. Team effort, together with individual effort, was necessary to produce a winning season.

olf returns to the Rangers sports' program

After a three-year absence, golf returned to the Rangers sports' program. Sam Coco was named coach and he selected his 12-member roster from a field of 21 candidates who had to play 18 holes of golf. The twelve lowest scorers became the Rangers' team. They included Tim Lucas, Mike Mehall, Tim Bodenschatz and Gary Robinson, all seniors; juniors included Scott Kakabar, Jim Cannin, Ted Smay, Ryan McCormick and Steve Slifko; sophomore Clay Bulvin; freshmen were Darrin Mehall and Anthony Wess.

Playing all home matches on the Windber Country Club golf course, the Rangers posted a 3-7 season record.

The Cocomen opened their season with a 14½-4½ win over the Windber Ramblers. Scott Kakabar was the medalist winner with a low score of 75, which tied a school record. The Rangers defeated Windber a second time by a 16½-2½ romp. Their only other win was over Bishop Carroll by a 12-7 count.

Top golfer for the Rangers was junior Scott Kakabar, who compiled a 6-2-2 showing for the season. Scott, along with Jim Cannin, who posted a 3-6 record, qualified for Districts.

In the Wheeling Golf Tournament the Rangers placed 15th out of a 20-team entry.

irls' 7-3 chart turns around 1985's record

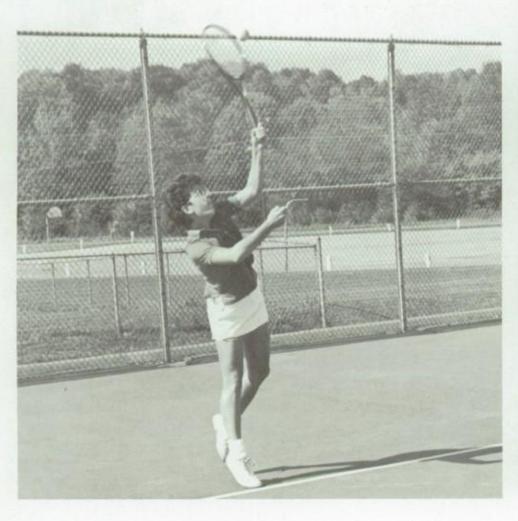

With four returning seniors and two underclassmen letter winners, the 1985-86 girls' tennis team turned around their last year's 3-7 record to an impressive 7-3 showing.

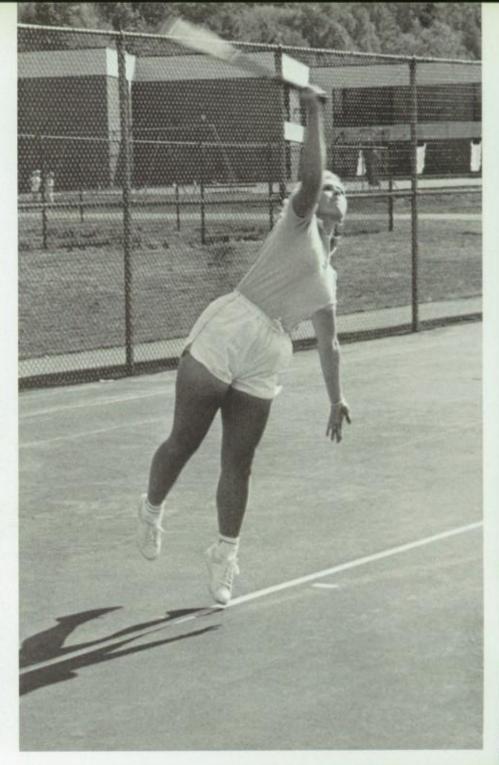

The team placed second behind Westmont in the Southern VI Tennis League, losing to the first place team twice and to Indiana once.

Senior Cathy Yonkoski compiled the best singles record for the Rangerettes in posting an 8-2 showing, winning 113 games out of 185.

The doubles team of Sandy Wess and Laurie Wess compiled the most wins in doubles competition with a 7-1 record. They teamed up to win 97 of their 142 games.

In District VI competition, Sandy Wess and Cathy Yonkoski were both eliminated in the first round of singles play. Maria Yuhas and Cathy Yonkoski were eliminated in second round doubles, while Laurie Wess and Dawn Gallaher advanced to third round competition where they were eliminated by State College.

Left: Dawn Gallaher unleashes a strong serve against her Westmont opponent. Unfortunately, she lost in three sets 6-3, 1-6, 1-6. The team didn't fare much better, losing to the Hilltoppers 5-2. ross country teams return 7 lettermen Eleven boys and seven girls comprised the 1985 Rangers' cross country team. Of these eighteen runners seven were returning letterwinners.

At the onset of the season, the harriers competed in the Big Valley Invitational at Kishacoquillas High School. Larry Harrington placed 24th out of 106 participants and Justine Trostle placed 18th, earning her a medal. Sophomore Sue Lacko finished 27th.

In dual competition both boys and girls posted winning seasons with a 8-3 showing for the boys and a 5-3 record for the girls.

In the Central Western Conference meet, the Rangers placed 4th out of 10 entries while in the UPJ Invitational, they placed 6th out of 8 competitors. They ended their season by participating in the District VI Meet at State College and came in 6th out of 11.

Top runner for the boys was junior Larry Harrington, who accumulated 21 points, and the girls' number one runner was junior Justine Trostle with 20 points. Doug Peel, with 8½ points, led the seniors in scoring and as a result was awarded the senior cross country award according to custom.

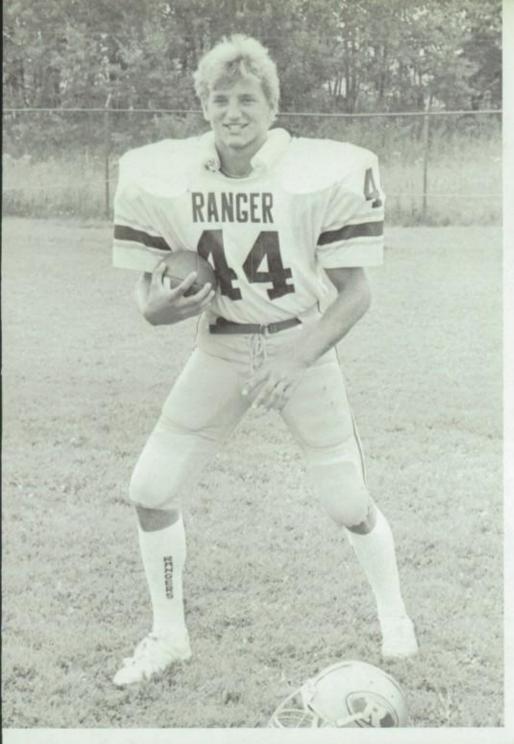

Right: FH coaching staff included Don Bailey, head coach; assistants Bill Colosimo and Ray Danel. Right Center: Senior Don Meier was the leading scorer for the Rangers with 78 points, including 12 TDs and 3 extra points (2). Don also led in rushing with 1031 yards in 267 carries for an average of 39 points per rush. Below: The Rangers' 30-6 victory over Portage earned for them the Mainline Traveling Trophy presented each year to the winning team by the Portage Area Jaycees. ridiron squad lacks quantity but has class

What the Rangers lacked in quantity this year, they certainly made up in quality.

With only 36 players on the roster — the fewest in quite some time — the Rangers produced 18 lettermen for the 1985 squad.

"We're fairly optimistic," stated Coach Bailey. "Our returning players are at skilled positions. We feel we can have a successful season if we stay away from injuries. Our strength? Probably an experienced offense."

The Rangers opened their season with a 30-6 victory over arch-rival Portage. This win appeared to put the Rangers in high gear as they went on to win their next six games, four of them by shut-outs. They dropped two of their last three games and ended their regular season with an 8-2 showing.

In District 6-AAA playoffs, the Rangers were pitted against undefeated United, who had 22 consecutive victories to their credit. The Rangers put an end to the win streak with a 19-12 victory and gave them a chance to play Ligonier Valley for the District 6-AAA championship.

Pangers capture District 6-AAA Championship

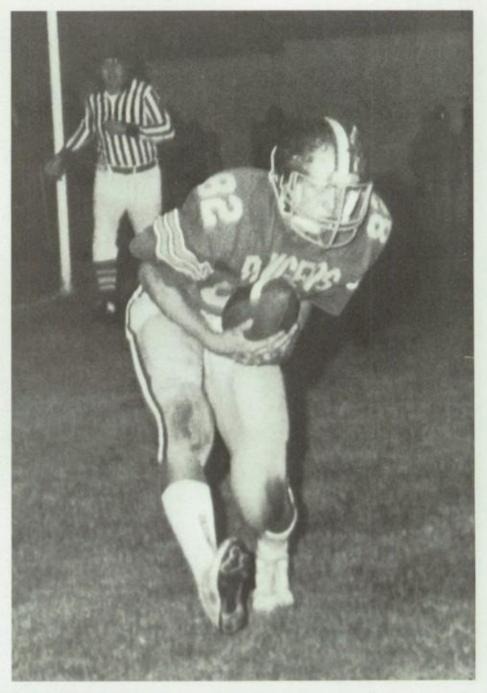

Down by two, 14-12, going into the final quarter, the Rangers took advantage of a shanked kick by the Mounties' punter, midway through the quarter and rallied for an 18-14 come-from-behind victory and the District 6-AAA football title.

Six plays after Ligonier's Whipkey deflected a kick off the side of his foot, Ranger quarterback Bob Slonac threw a five-yard touchdown pass to Ken Matlin in the right corner of the end zone with 4:41 left in the game.

The victory gave the Rangers a 10-2 season record and the first ever District 6-AAA championship.

The Rangers dominated in the statistics, showing 11 first downs to the Mounties 7. In rushing FH compiled 111 yards to Ligonier's 55 and in passing the victors gained 95 yards to the loser's 59. Net yards for the game favored the Rangers with 282 to the Mounties' 232.

The win capped an exciting season for the Rangers, who posted a 10-2 chart. Coach Bailey summed it up in stating, "This is a great group of kids and it has been a very exciting season. We really had fun coaching these kids this year."

Tailback Don Meier (44) finds an opening around the right side in the fourth quarter against Central Cambria. Blocking out in froint is Norm Klahre (76). Meier carried the ball 27 times for 141 yards in the 14-0 win over the Red Devils.

In the Portage contest Safety Ken Matlin (86) returns a punt 59 yards for a touchdown.

Left Center: Tight End Greg Madison (82) is at the end of a Slonac pass good for 6 points in the Richland contest. Of the 20 passes caught by Greg throughout the season two were for touchdowns. Left: Linebacker Mark Facciani makes a clean tackle of his Central Cambria opponent. For the season Mark led the team in solo tackles with 81 and had 35 assists. Below: Assistant Coach Ray Danel gives a victory hug to Head Coach Don Bailey after FH defeated Ligonier 18-14 for the District 6 AAA championship.

Quarterback Bob Slonac (13) finds a big hole in the Richland defense to add a conversion to the Rangers' score. FH won the game by a 27-3 count to raise its record to 5-0.

Kevin Schofield (20) evades a block of Conemaugh Township's Chuck Formica (49) to can Steve Cahill (24). FH allowed the Indians just one yard of total offense in a 22-0 win.

ong, Williams selected for All-Star team

Under second year head coach James Dorsch, the girls' volleyball team looked for hustle and a strong spiking game to pave the way for a winning 1985 season and to show improvement over last year's 9-6 standing. With five lettermen returning, the coach looked forward to a successful season.

Opening with a win over Ferndale, the girls dropped their next two matches. Then things began to pick up for the team as they won their next three contests and midway through the season they posted a 5-3 record. In the second half, however, they played .500 ball, with a 4-4 showing, and ended the season with a 9-7 season record.

Junior Vicki Costlow led the team in scoring serves with 110 points. Runner-up in this category was another junior, Dawn Blanchetti with 98 points.

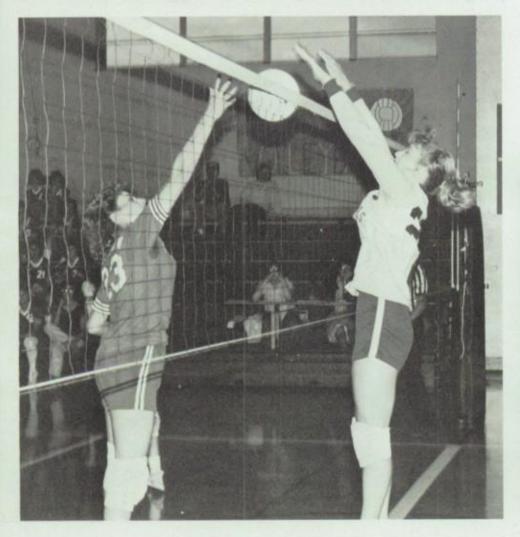

Seniors Tracy Williams and Bonnie Long were chosen to play on the Cambria County All Star Team. Selection was made by Coach Jim Dorsch who based his choice on the girls' over-all performance throughout the season.

ophomores lead jayvee squad to 12-4 record

Comprised of seven sophomores, two juniors and a lone senior, the jayvee volleyball team had a very good showing for the 1985 season with a 12-4 record.

Losing but one contest in the first half of the season, the little Rangerettes posted a 7-1 record at the midway point.

Two of their four losses were to Cambria Heights, the number one team in their section.

The sophomore-dominated team played well together and gained valuable playing experience which should be an asset to next year's varsity squad.

Leading in scoring serves with 87 points was Tammy Meier, a sophomore. Junior Krissy Gindlesperger was runner-up in scoring with 56 points.

ric Botteicher places second at Districts

At the onset of the season, Coach Dorsch stated, "We are looking to match last year's record of 11-6, but this year will have to be much more of a team effort." The Rangers returned seven lettermen.

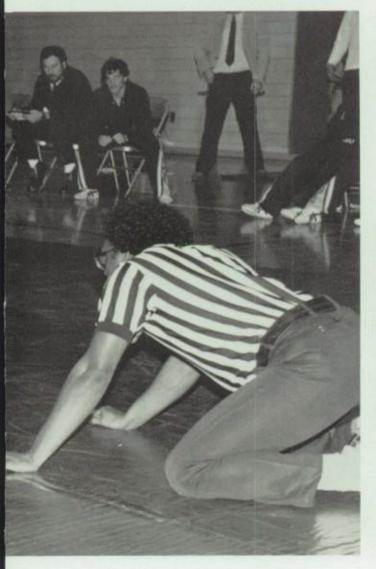

The coach's hopes failed to materialize, and the Rangers posted a 7-11 season showing. The team came in third in the Indiana Tournament.

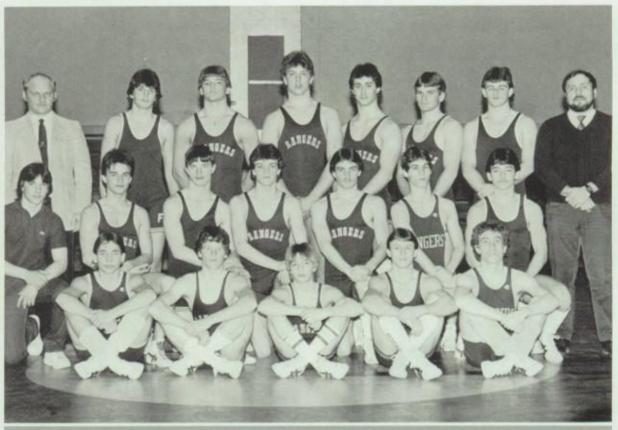

Losing their first three starts, the Rangers posted a 3-6 record at mid-season. They closed out the season with three wins, but then it was too late.

Top wrestler was senior Eric Botteicher who posted a 25-7 overall showing, including 11 pins. In dual competition he had a 13-1-1 record. He placed 2nd in Districts and qualified for the Regionals where he missed advancing to the States by one match.

Other wrestlers, having winning records, included Ron Smith with a 15-11 showing, including 8 pins. Sophomore Clarence Reese had the same 15-11 record and pinned six opponents. Another sophomore Matt Botteicher showed a 15-13 record which included 3 pins.

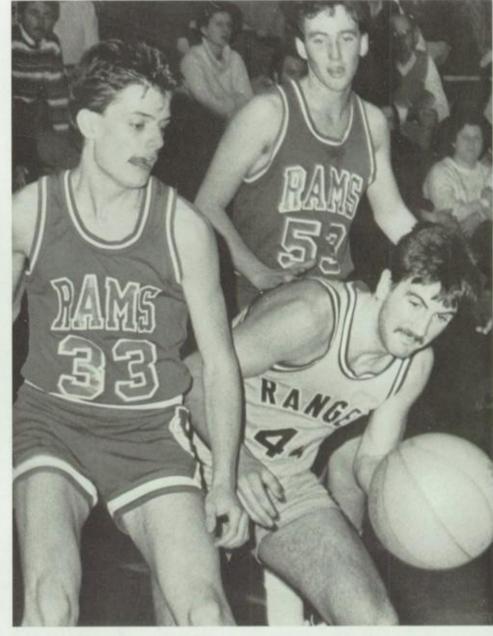

Graduation claimed four grapplers, including Eric Botteicher, Ron Smith, Rick Keiper and Don Meier. However, the sophomores show great potential for next year.

For the season he had 115 points (44 FGs and 27Fs). Below Left: Scott Kakabar scores two of his 12 points with this outside shot in the Cambria Heights' contest. His high game for the season was against United in the UPJ tourney in which he scored 16 markers. Below Center: Norm Klahre (34) goes for two under the basket in the Highlanders' contest in which he scored 10 points. For the season, Norm tossed in 159 points. Below Right: Top scorer for the Rangers, Ken Mallin (14) takes a one-handed shot in the Ligonier encounter. He scored 11 points, second high for the Rangers who won in overtime 55-51. His top game of the season was 24 points against Central Cambria.

angers finish season at 6-15, a bit baffled

Although the Rangers had five lettermen returning on their basketball squad; namely, Norm Klahre, Craig Wadsworth, Marc Myers and Allen Sauter, they lost as many seniors to graduation. In particular, the loss of Dave Richardson hurt the Rangers the most. Coach Danel felt that no one seemed to have the potential to replace those 24 lost points-a-game that Richardson averaged. The coach's feeling proved true as the Rangers posted a 6-15 season record, a rather dismal showing after the great performance of last year.

After a poor first half the Rangers began the second half with successive wins over Somerset and Penn Cambria and it appeared things were on an upward swing; however, they went winless in their last seven contests and closed out the season with a 6-15 record.

Top scorer for the Rangers was junior Ken Matlin who totaled 242 points, including 89 field goals and 64 free throws. Runner-up scoring honors went to senior Marc Myers with 228 markers, 184 from the field and 44 via the foul line. His best game was against Penn Cambria when he scored 18 points.

In third place in total points was junior Scott Kakabar with 172, including 74 field goals and 24 foul shots.

espite losing season, jayvees perform well

Comprised of two juniors and eight sophomores, the Rangers' jayvee squad, under second-year coach Gary Mehall, posted a 5-10 season record. In spite of the poor showing, the little Rangers played rather well. Four of their ten losses were by a one-point margin; also they participated in four overtime games which they split.

Junior Ryan McCormick won the scoring laurels with 204 points for the 15-game schedule, averaging 13.6 points per game. He tossed in 81 from the field for 162 points and made good 42 free throws. His 63% foul shooting average was the second best on the team.

Runner-up in scoring honors was sophomore Mike Harbaugh who totaled 117 markers, including 41 field goals and 35 via the foul line. His making good 35 of 53 foul shots gave him a 66% average, high for the squad. Third high scorer was Rick May with 107 points. A breakdown of his scoring showed 40 field goals and 27 foul shots.

Leading rebounders for the little Rangers included Rick May (127), Darrin Wissinger (103) and Mike Harbaugh (76).

illiams wins scoring honors

As the season began, Coach Lori Mickle had her eye on the Tri-County League title; her team placed second to Richland last year. However, with only two letter winners, seniors Tracy Williams and Maria Yuhas, returning, the team lacked experience and this spelled disaster for the Rangerettes as they closed out the season with a 5-16 record.

The only really bright spot for the girls was the play of senior Tracy Williams, who was the number one scorer for the team. She accumulated 334 points in the 21-game schedule, giving her an average of about 16 points per game. Her scoring included 132 field goals for 264 points and 70 free throws. She made 70 out of 110 at the foul line for a 64% average, tops for the team. She also led in rebounds with 224 as well as steals, 73.

Another senior, Maria Yuhas was runner-up in scoring with 126 markers, including 108 from the field (54FGs) and 18 at the foul line. Maria led in assists with 57 and in blocks, 75.

Junior Jill Trostle with 108 points came in third in scoring. She had 42 field goals and 24 foul shots.

ayvees short on experience, post 4-7 chart

In a rather short season of only eleven games, the jayvee squad failed to make the .500 mark and posted a 4-7 season record.

Comprised of five juniors and four sophomores, the little Rangerettes, like the varsity squad, lacked sufficient experience to have a winning season. Winning two of their last three games, they appeared to show improvement, but then it was too late.

Top scorer for the team was sophomore Carla McKay who totaled 74 points for the season, including 27 field goals (54 points) and 20 foul shots. She led in rebounds with 39 and steals with 14.

Second high scorer was junior Tina Rothgeb who had 43 markers, 40 from the field and 3 from the foul line.

Julie Plummer with 42 points was number three in scoring which included 15 field goals (30 points) and 12 free throws.

poor showing; 3-6-1 record

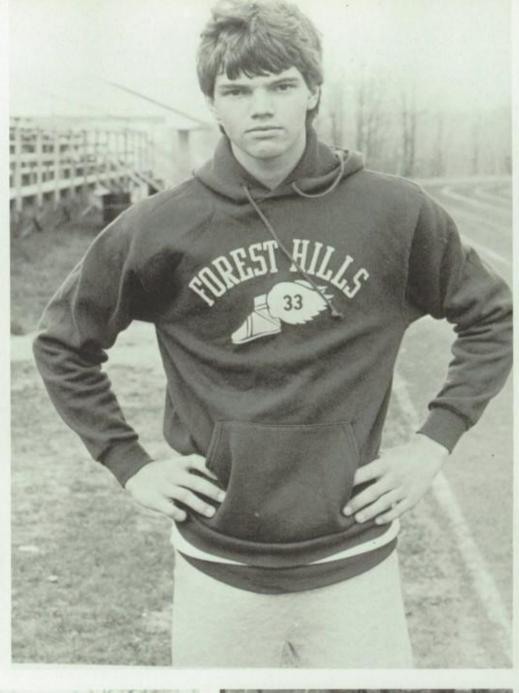

For the second year in a row, the Ranger thinclads failed to post a winning season. Beginning the season with a tie against Penn Cambria and winning the second contest against Bishop Carroll, the Rangers managed only two more wins the remainder of the season and posted a 3-6-1 record overall.

At both the Mountain Conference Relays and the Mountain Conference Meet they scored but six points. At the District Six Meet, their final competition of the year, they failed to score at all, to end a rather dismal season.

Top competitor for the Rangers was senior Tim Lucas who scored 88¼ points and for his efforts received the senior track award.

Larry Harrington, a junior, scored 84 points to earn the runner-up spot. Larry led the team in distance events. In the 800 m. run, he was clocked at 2:13; in the 1600 m. he had a time of 4:50.2 and in the 3200 m., he posted a time of 10:59. Larry is the one bright spot for the 1987 Ranger thinclads.

Scoring 78¼ points and 71½ points respectively, seniors Kevin Schofield and Don Meier rounded out the top four Ranger thinclads.

Left: Senior Tim Lucas, who participated in hurdle, relay and jumping events, acquired 88½ points for the season, high on the squad, to earn for him the senior track award. Below: Steve Sewalk led the team in the shot put event, with a toss of 39'7" in the Vo-Tech competition.

angerettes end season at 10-4, a fine showing

Under the guidance of head coach Judy McIntyre and assistant Arthur Burkett, the girls' track team finished the season with a 10-4 record in the Mountain Conference League. "The girls had an excellent year and met many of the individual goals they had set for themselves and the team," stated Coach McIntyre.

At the Mountain Conference Relays at Somerset, the Rangerettes captured 4th place in the overall team standings. Twelve area schools competed in this meet.

Fourteen girls qualified and competed at the District 6 meet on May 13 at Mansion Park, Altoona. The 400 m. relay team placed 5th with a time of 53.2; the team was comprised of Tessy Rudeck, Holly Blanchetti, Vicki Costlow and Cindy Pisarski.

Also at Districts, Justine Trostle placed 6th in the 3200 m. run with her best time of the season, 12:28. Marcy Sherer came in 5th in the shot put event with a throw of 32'4" and 6th in the discus with a 99'11" toss.

"Overall the girls had a really good season," stated Coach McIntyre, "and they did a nice job competing."

B aseball squad ends with 15-4 season record

In regular season play, the Rangers compiled an enviable 12-1 record, losing only to Portage. Having won the 1st Annual Highland Invitational Tournament by defeating Marion Center 16-2 in the first and Cambria Heights 8-6 in the championship game, FH upped its record to 14-1. In District VI AA Playoffs, the Rangers nipped Bishop Carroll 9-8 but lost a heartbreaker to Westmont 1-0, thus eliminating them from further competition.

In the Tri-County Playoffs, FH dropped both games to Somerset by a 10-0 thumping in the first contest and by a 5-3 score in the second encounter. The Rangers overall record was 15-4, the best in Forest Hills history.

Leading hitter was senior Craig Wadsworth, who in 48 at bats had 19 hits, including 2 homeruns, compiled a .396 average. He led in RBI's with 16. Runner-up batting honors went to junior Ken Matlin with a .373 average, having 19 hits in 51 trips at the plate. Senior Mike Mehall, with a .370 batting average, was third. He collected 11 RBI's in 19 games and led the team in runs scored with 25.

Top hurler was junior Ryan McCormick who posted a 5-1 record. In completing 5 of 6 games, he pitched in 37 innings, striking out 43 and walking 16. He posted a 1.51 ERA. Mike Mehall with a 4-1 record and an ERA of 4.0 was runner-up in pitching.

Baseball coach, Michael Bryja, Given AD post

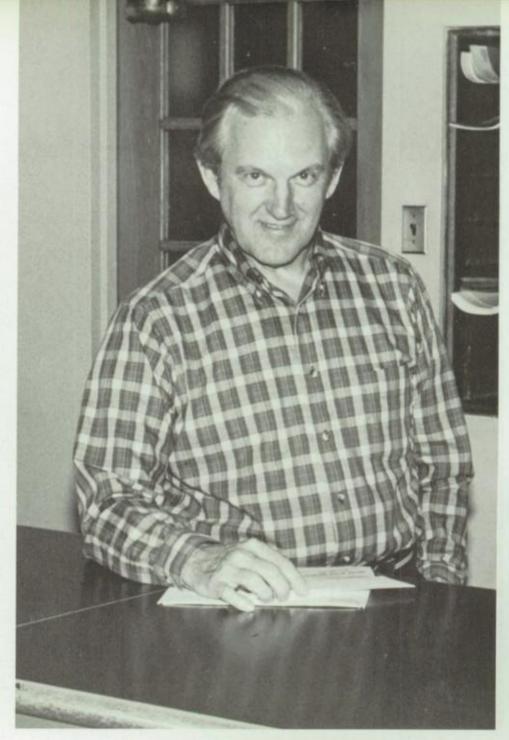

Upon the resignation of Peter Gdula as athletic director, the board named Michael Bryja to the post. Mr. Bryja, who has been the head baseball coach for the past 20 years, is an English instructor at the junior high school.

The AD job entails many responsibilities. He is responsible to building principals for all matters involving interscholastic athletics and he represents Forest Hills at athletic meetings. He is responsible for preparing a budget for the total athletic program as well as preparing bids, quotations and requisitions for all athletics.

Furthermore, the AD must prepare schedules and contracts for all athletic contests, arrange transportation for all athletes, contract all home game officials and check eligibility lists with the principal.

Likewise he must coordinate with the principals the scheduling and utilization of athletic facilities. He is responsible for the preparation of facilities for practice and home contests.

To help for preparation of these facilities, the AD enlists the help of high school students, known as the "field crew." These volunteers keep the football field in shape in the fall and the baseball diamond in the spring.

As the 1985-86 school year of "fun and games" began, the 161 juniors found new challenges, new ideas and new responsibilities.

One major responsibility was the sponsoring of the annual junior-senior prom, perhaps the most important social event of the year. In order to finance this event, the juniors held fund raisers which included a magazine sale and Gardners Christmas candy sale.

This year of "fun and games" had its serious side as well. College-bound juniors were required to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test in October and later, in the spring, the College Boards.

Juniors participated and involved themselves more in school activities; such as, forensics, dramatics, Humanitarian Club as well as the various sports.

The acceptance of new responsibilities and participating and getting involved resulted in the eleventh graders becoming more mature and more prepared to take over the leadership role in their last year of high school.

We Needed Money

In order to meet the expenses of the junior-senior prom, hosted by the juniors, the class held two fund raisers — the magazine sale and the Gardners Christmas Candy sale.

Held September 4-16, the magazine campaign grossed for the class $5700 with a net gain of approximately $2000.

High salesmen for the sale were Wendy Bodenschatz, first, and Jim Hayostek, runner-up, who turned in $520 and $292 respectively. Wendy chose an AM/FM dual cassette stereo as her prize and Jim selected a stereo cassette with headphones.

Collecting $1396, homeroom 217, chaired by Wendy Bodenschatz, was tops in sales. Certain prizes were offered as incentives; for example, any student turning in 14 orders received free a 1986 Forester, a $15 value. Approximately forty percent of the class participated in the drive.

About $4800 was collected by the juniors in their second fund raiser — Gardners Christmas Candy sale. Top sellers in the campaign, held November 8-22, were Carrol Debevits ($194), Connie Kostyk ($166) and Julie Plummer ($160). They received $25, $15 and $10 respectively for their efforts. High homeroom was again 217 with total sales amounting to $1200. Net gain for the class amounted to approximately $1500.

We Are Tested

On Tuesday, October 22, interested junior: assembled in the cafeteria to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Test.

The test, which lasted two and half hours, was under the direction of Steve Hrapchak, guidance counselor. It consisted of two parts — math and verbal. The verbal, fifty minutes in length contained 65 questions, including antonyms analogies, sentence completions and reading comprehension. The second half of the test was comprised of fifty math questions which were to be answered in 50 minutes also.

About forty percent of the junior class participated in the program which was cosponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) and was developed and administered for them by Educational Testing Service (ETS).

The PSAT/NMSQT is the qualifying test students must take to enter nationwide scholarship competitions conducted by National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Score reports were mailed to school principals by December 14 and then passed on to the students who participated in the program.

We Are Honored

Seven juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society on December 9 in the high school auditorium. The five girls and two boys were inducted along with eight seniors at a candlelighting ceremony.

In charge of the ceremony were senior veteran NHS members under the direction of faculty coadvisors Mary Ellen Ambroe and Gloria Molnar.

Selections were made by secret voting of the faculty who graded those eligible on character, service and leadership. Any student maintaining a 3.6 grade average was eligible for membership.

Each inductee received a ribbon and a small candle which he lit from the large Candle of Knowledge, signifying his induction into the society. In conclusion, the inductees recited the National Honor Society pledge.

A repeat performance of the induction ceremony took place that evening for the benefit of the inductees' parents. A light luncheon was served in the cafeteria afterwards.

We Had A Choice

For those who did not plan to continue their formal education after graduation, there was a general course offered with various electives.

Of course, English and social studies were required of all students, general as well as academic and business education students.

The electives available were varied to meet the needs and interests of the general student. To those interested in attending a trade school or taking up drafting later on, mechanical drawing was offered. With our computer oriented society, in industry as well as in the home, computer programming was available to interested students. Home economics, offered to boys and girls both, was a practical course in which the students learned the fundamentals of sewing and cooking. Students who showed some artistic ability in sketching, painting or leather craft could pursue the art course. Those who wished to learn the fundamentals in woodwork or metal selected one of these classes. For those interested in music, band and chorus were available.

The general student had ample electives to choose from. His interest and needs dictated his choice.

We Planned Ahead

The academic or college-bound junior followed a prescribed course of studies with English and social studies being a must for all. A mathematics course, usually geometry, was required as well as chemistry, which proved essential to all who planned to enter the field of medicine or science.

Chemistry, however, was valuable to any student, college bound or not; for it stressed self-reliance, responsibility and the use of common sense in the laboratory when working with dangerous experiments. Likewise the student had to show sound judgement and a sense of awareness in performing experiments.

Since the academic junior had to follow a rather strict schedule, he did not always have the opportunity of choosing electives. However, some did manage to participate in band and chorus and to schedule a class in personal typing.

We Got Involved

Having completed a year of adjustment as sophomores, the juniors, seasoned in high school know-how became more involved in school affairs. They proved to be an asset to clubs and organizations.

Four junior girls were members of the varsity cheerleading squad and had a hand in the group's capturing first place in the annual contest and also in their participating in national competition in Florida.

Five of the six members of the scholastic quiz team were juniors. Also the trivial pursuit team had its share of eleventh graders. In the school's dramatic presentations, juniors had lead roles. The forensic team was well represented by juniors, also.

Various activities sponsored by clubs and organizations; such as, Student Council's Spirit Week found juniors active participants. Likewise the Cystic Fibrosis marathon, sponsored by the Jaycees and Jayceettes, received support of the juniors. Band, chorus and athletic teams, all had their share of junior participants.

Their involvement in scholastic and other activities offered juniors a means of maturing and prepared them for that last year in high school when they would take over as leaders.

A bit apprehensive at first, the sophomores found the 1985-86 year of "fun and games" a completely new experience. These newcomers needed a period of adjustment to get oriented with their new environment, to get acquainted with new rules and regulations and to get accustomed to new teachers.

In their curriculum they noted some new courses including biology, communications, safety education and business exploratory, a 3-segmented course, comprised of shorthand, typing and accounting.

At first, they played the role of "followers." Eventually they began to get involved in clubs and activities; such as, HUM Club, forensics, yearbook and newspaper. They participated in Spirit Week, pep rallies and the various sports. They held a successful Citrus Sale in which many earned a free 1986 Forester. Finally they ordered and received their class rings which symbolized their becoming part of the senior high school.

This year of "fun and games" initiated for these 174 sophomores a new phase in school life.

CLASS PHOTOS

Photos to Be Used in Yearbook

On Wednesday, October 5, the underclassmen were photographed by Provine Studios of Altoona. Many students dressed up for the occasion.

Three package deals were offered to the students. In Package A, which cost $6.50, were included ten wallet sized photos, two 4x5 pictures and one 8x10. Package B, costing $5.50, gave the underclassmen 18 wallet photos, four 2½x3½ pictures, one 5x7 and a folder. In the Package C deal, priced at $4.50, the student received ten wallet photos, two 3½x5 pictures, one 5x7 and a folder. All pictures in the three package deals were in full color.

Package B — the $5.50 deal — was the choice of a large majority of the sophomores and juniors.

Since these pictures were to be used in the yearbook, all underclassmen were photographed regardless of their intentions of ordering pictures or not. In this way all students appeared in the Forester.

The pictures arrived in late November and with few exceptions, most students were satisfied. Retakes and pictures of absentees on October 5 were taken in early December.

COMMUNICATIONS

Library Science Incorporated

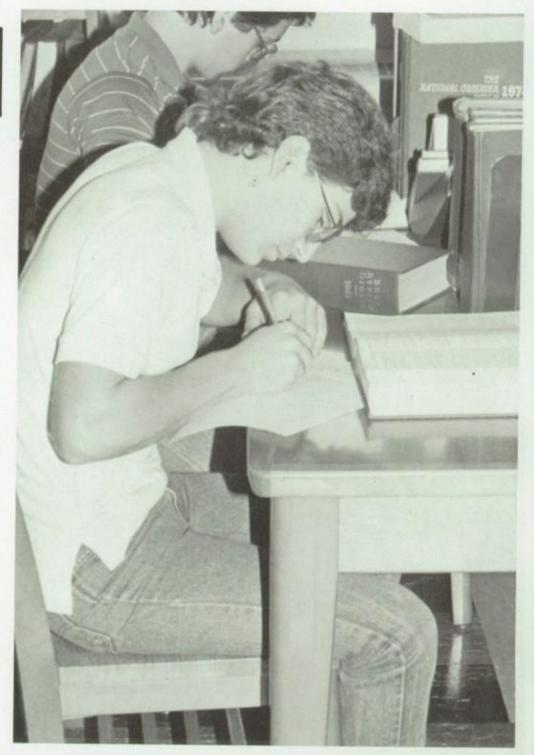

In the semester-long Communications course, required of all sophomores, was incorporated Library Science.

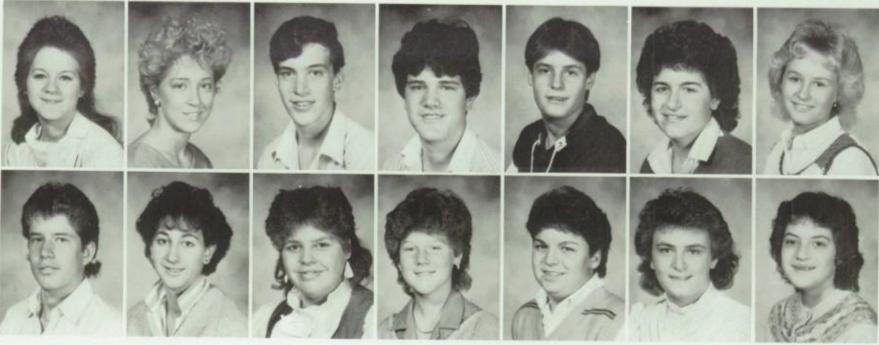

The course was under the direction of the librarian Henry Polasko. At the onset of the Communications class, all students were required to give one-minute talks on assigned subjects, the purpose being "to break the ice" for the students in speaking in front of their peers. Parliamentary procedure was explained and employed in the course, with students assigned as chairpersons and secretaries.

This was followed by a study of library fundamentals. Learning the Dewey Decimal System, studying a map of the library to learn location of various materials and using the video tape machine were some of the fundamentals.

Once these fundamentals were learned, the student had to put into practice his knowledge of what he learned. Each sophomore was required to research a topic of his choice, using the card catalog, Readers' Guide and the video tape machine. From his researched topic, which generally included social problems; such as, child abuse, drugs, runaways, abortion etc., the student wrote a brief account. This he committed to memory and he was required to deliver a brief talk.

As a pilot program, this new Communications/class proved very successful as well as beneficial to all students involved.

CURRICULUM

Variety of Courses Offered

Sophomores were offered a varied curriculum which included the required courses of English, mathematics, science and social studies. Of these mandated courses, science introduced the student to the field of biology, something new for sophomores. This study made use of visual aids, such as colorful slides of flowers and insects as well as films dealing with various aspects of biology. Students dissected for the first time, something not all looked forward to.

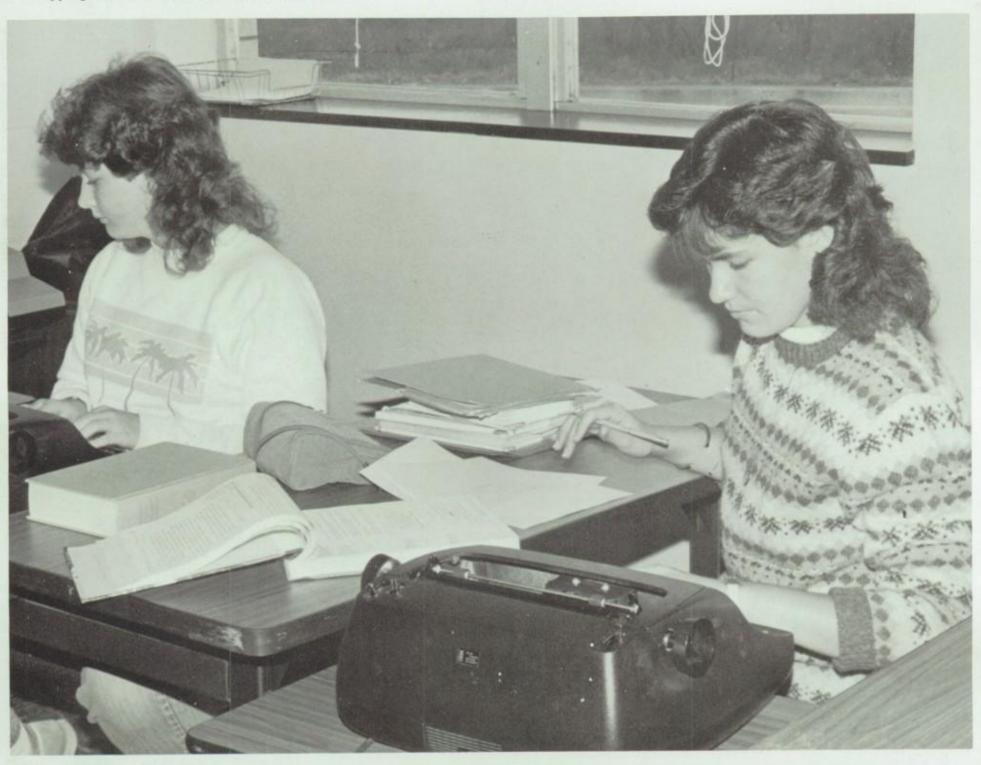

Besides these required courses, there were elective courses the sophomore might select. For example, Business Exploratory was available to the student interested in the business field. This class included shorthand, typing and business math (each taught for period of twelve weeks). Personal typing was also available to those who did not wish to take Business Exploratory. In this one-semester course, students learned the fundamentals of typing which proved to be a benefit later on for the academic student who had to type assignments, such as term papers.

There were other electives open to sophomores; such as, art, home economics and shop. Of course band and chorus were available to all who showed interest in these two areas and who were able to fit them in their schedule.

Steve Hrapchak, guidance counselor, explains to sophomores Janice Moore, left, Don Eash and Missy Stombaugh the options available in the sophomore elective curriculum; such as chorus, band and personal typing.

Carla McKay, left, and Carla Mackel learn the fundamentals of typing in a personal typing class. Sophomores also had the opportunity of learning basic typing skills in a Business Exploratory class.

CITRUS SALE

Class Fails to Reach Goal

Although the class failed to reach its goal of 20,000 pounds of citrus, the fund raiser was a financial success. The sophomores grossed $5900 with the sale of 13,000 pounds and showed a net gain of $1800.

Certain incentive awards were given to participants. Any student turning in one order received a "Luv Ya" green and gold button. Those whose orders totalled $30 received a "snoz," a small plush animal. Forty dollars in sales earned additionally for the student an FH mug. Participants who turned in $60 had a choice of a 1985 Forester or half payment on a 1986 yearbook. Full payment of 1986 yearbook was awarded to anyone whose sales were $90. Of course the seller also received all of the previous prizes. Finally the first 15 students to turn-in $100 or more also received free a large FH mug.

High homeroom for the drive was Room 211 whose total sales amounted to $1400. All participants in this homeroom received two free candy bars from the Candy Cupboard in Room 148. Other homeroom totals were Room 111 ($1,099), Room 117 ($471), Room 119 ($1,106), Room 130 ($999) and Room 207 ($816).

Top sellers were Vannie Beaner who turned in $299, Larry Leipchack with $233 in sales and Renee Glass whose sales totalled $222.

INVOLVEMENT

Adjust First, Then Participate

As the school's newcomers, sophomores had to become adjusted to their new environment and daily routines. After becoming accustomed to their new way of life, they began to get involved.

The Drama Club was well represented by sophomores as were the band, chorus and Jazz Rock Ensemble. The forensic team included sophomores, some of whom participated in District, State and National competition.

Sixteen tenth grade girls were members of the cheerleading teams, five of whom were on the varsity squad, which this year captured first place honors in the annual cheerleading contest at the War Memorial.

Sophomores also took part in Spirit Week, sponsored by the Student Council, an organization which boasted of sophomores in their membership.

While some sophomores found themselves involved with yearbook and newspaper, others found themselves in the paper. Sophomores Bob Kovach, Di and Dee Miller were featured in the fashion column in the November issue of the Montage.

In various sports, sophomores proved themselves capable of competing with the upperclassmen.

Although all clubs were not open to tenth graders, their presence was felt in those in which they did participate.

Through their involvement in activities, sophomores gained valuable experience which would help them to prepare for leadership in years ahead.

As sophomore Bruce Barr looks on, Larry Suhey, representative of Balfour Rings, explains to Doug Robinson the options available in his ring selection. The "Celestrium" ring was the most popular with students.

CLASS RINGS

Orders Taken in September

On Thursday, September 26, Mrs. Ginger Suhey and son Larry, representatives of Balfour Rings received orders for rings from the class of '88.

About 50 sophomores placed orders for their rings at this time, while others preferred to place orders at a later date. Of the many styles offered, four different types were chosen. Twenty students took advantage of the $99.95 special offer for the gold celestrium; another fifteen sophomores selected the silver celestrium, specially priced at $79.95. Both of these special offers included the following options: supreme gemstone (smooth or cut top), name engraved in ring, freedom of choice side, choice of starflame, fireburst, India cut, protected emblem, sculptured palmside and a Balfour full life warranty.

Most students chose the traditional ring, which included the gold and silver celestriums, the Quasar Plus, the Golden Saddle and the 10K Gold, the most expensive. The traditional, regarded as "the class ring," included the standard FH design on the one side and the "freedom of choice" activity on the other. The activities included sports, school activities; such as, cheerleaders, majorettes, vocational, etc. A few girls chose the dinner ring, a contemporary style ring.

Arriving in mid-December, the rings were able to be picked up in time for Christmas.

The editor and staff of the 1986 Forester sincerely thank all, who in any way, were involved with the production of this yearbook. The cooperation of Edward Terek, high school principal, along with the patience of the senior high faculty when scheduling was altered and classes were disrupted by photographers, deserves a special thank you.

Cover Studio, responsible for the senior portraits and much of the candid photography, did excellent work as usual. The staff is grateful to the office secretaries for locating essential information and statistics that were used in the yearbook.

The Portage Dispatch proved very helpful in providing pictures used in the sports' section, in particular football and basketball activities.

With the high publication costs, the financial support given by special benefactors, benefactors, friends and patrons, which totaled over $3,000 proved essential, and we sincerely appreciated their donations.

Finally, a special thank you to our advisor, Albert Keller, whose experience in yearbook production, along with his countless hours of work, made this yearbook a successful venture.

Colophon

Volume 20 of the Forester was produced by the Forest Hills High School yearbook staff with the guidance of Mr. Al Keller. The printing was done by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in cooperation with company representative Ed Patrick, Jr. and Plant account executive Danyell Bissing. Taylor's Titleist Deluxe program was utilized for the 1986 Forester. Book size was 8½ by 11 with 200 pages and a press run of 350 copies printed offset fusing 150 line screen on both black and white and four color photography. The entire book was printed on Meads 80 lb. Double Coated Enamel paper stock with 40 pages reproduced in 4-Color. The cover is composed of 120 pt. binders board utilizing Taylor's standard cover material Greer. 239 with a Gold Hot Foil Application. The endsheet is a Taylor standard endsheet Green 10 with a Gold Hot Foil application. Both Body copy as well as all Headlines are of the style Korina with Korina Bold and Korina Italic utilized in all captions. All Four Color and senior portrait work was taken by Cover studio of Johnstown, Penna. with some candid and four color taken by Mr. Al Keller. All underclassmen work was handled by Provine Studio of Altoona, Penna. The total cost of the 1986 Forester was $12,850.00 with an additional cost of $350.00 for Brownline proofing making the final total $13,200.00

Fun is sharing. Fun, like many of the good things of life, grows as we share it with others. Sharing fun is really the main idea of having a good time. By sharing fun with others, we find greater enjoyment for ourselves.

In their parties for the retarded, HUM Club members shared their fun and good times with these exceptional children by participating in sing-a-longs, dancing, and showing their love and concern for each and every guest. The Jaycees and the Jayceettes, in their annual Cystic Fibrosis marathon, shared their fun and good times to benefit the less fortunate. The seniors' farewell party was one of fun and sharing as they bade goodbye to one another.

Fun in sharing and sharing in fun are really one and the same thing.

Above: Table "A" found the prom a most enjoyable social. Seated here are (left side, front to back) Sean Jacobs and Cindy Pisarski, Todd Russell and Trish Evacko; (right side) Rick Keiper and Rosanne Becker, Patty Bodenschatz and Sean Graffius. Top Left Corner: Jeff Reinbold receives his diploma from board president Robert Beyer. Graduation was a joyous occasion for 164 seniors. Top Center: Suzi Jo Egnatz, left; Kathie Drew, Loren Reeby and John Reaugh return to their buses after a fun day at Hershey Park. Right Center: At the Awards Assembly, a happy Tanya Kissell receives the top forensic award from George Pettorini, head of F.H.E.A. Top Right Corner: Cathy Yonkoski, left, Mike Mehall and Sharon Heider with the rest of the Jazz Rock give out with "All Night Long" at the electrifying and fun-packed Jazz Rock Concert. Bottom Right Corner: Dawn Gallaher, left; Clarissa Reese, JoAnne Andrykovitch and Lynn George smilingly express their joy on graduation day, June 3.

LIFE

Enjoyment of life is the aim of everyone. Most will agree that we had many enjoyable times during our school days. But the capacity for the full enjoyment of life has to be developed. It involves attitudes, appreciations, interests and skills. These things just don't happen. They require time, patience, planning and effort. We find enjoyment in everything about us — drama, music, activities and work.

Enjoyment could be found in many aspects of our school day. The jazz rock was enjoyment personified as the group presented its spring concert. The prom proved most enjoyable for those involved. Pride and joy beamed on the faces of the seniors as they received their awards. And for the seniors, graduation was a special day of enjoyment as they closed out their high school days.
